Protest Half-Day Grade School Sessions

West End Parents Don't Like Grade Schedule

Parents of fifth and sixth grade pupils in the Western Avenue school protested loudly today against a new schedule which calls for half-day sessions because of crowded conditions in the building.

The protest highlighted the first day of classes in Mansfield public schools which saw 6,182 pupils enroll, eight more than on the first day last year.

Under the new order, sent out yesterday from the office of Supt. W. L. Miller, the 105 children of the fifth and sixth grades at Western will alternate in morning and afternoon sessions, with time out of school to be spent in study periods at home.

In the wake of a flood of telephone calls from parents who maintain that "it's impossible to get children to study at home," Supt. W. L. Miller said, "There's nothing else we can do."

"There are too many children for the two rooms which are used to house the two grades," Miller said. "The children won't suffer from the plan. They will have adequate instruction of approximately four and one-half hours a day."

The superintendent added that the new plan, instigated because of an overflow of children in the school building, would not retard the children in class advancement.

Enrollment Up.

Enrollment in the two elementary classes is up six pupils over last year's enrollment, figures from the superintendent's office showed. Last year's enrollment was 42 pupils in the sixth grade and 57 in the fifth grade. This year there are 52 in the fifth grade and 53 in the sixth grade.

PUBLIC VIEW ON GARBAGE FEES SOUGHT

Council Approves Purchase of Three New Trucks to Improve Service.

City councilmen sounded out constituents today on a proposed increase in the $7.20-a-year garbage collection fee, preparatory to deciding the issue next Tuesday.

They indicated their intention of improving the garbage and ash collection service at their regular September meeting last night by appropriating $9,500 for purchase of two new ash trucks and one new garbage truck.

They appropriated another $9,500 from the general fund to make up an anticipated deficit in the garbage collection department this year.

In deciding to postpone a decision on the fee increase, councilmen also decided to sample public opinion on three other points:

1. Whether the garbage service should be made compulsory or be left on a "take it or leave it" basis.

2. Whether to put the collection charge on the tax duplicate or continue it on a monthly fee basis.

3. Whether to keep the garbage collection system separate from the ash collection system "so as not to penalize residents who burn oil or gas."

It was Councilman Charles O. Anglin who suggested that the cost of garbage collection be placed on the tax duplicate.

"It will be cheaper for everyone, including the city," he contended.

The vote to postpone a decision until a special meeting next Tuesday, councilmen approved a recommendation of President William E. Bradford.

Their decision to buy the new trucks came after Chairman Clifford Knarr, of the garbage committee, had asserted: "Better service must be provided before rates can be increased." He said he favored purchase of the new equipment as a means of providing that "better service."

Mayor Urged Boost.

Mayor Roy W Vaughn several weeks ago recommended purchase of the new trucks and also proposed that the collection fee be boosted in order to take the garbage department out of the red.

When the proposal came up for discussion last night, councilmen heard a letter from Dr. W. B. Wild, city-county health commissioner, urging that garbage collection be made compulsory as a health-protection measure.

Anglin adopted the compulsory collection theme to support his

NEW DIONNE

'Quins' Have Baby Brother, Family's 14th Child.

NORTH BAY, Ont.—(AP)—The Dionne quintuplets are trying to pick a name for their new baby brother, born last night.

The 12-year-old quintuplets were excited by the new arrival described by doctors as "a beautiful boy" weighing about eight pounds.

He was the 14th child born to Mr. and Mrs. Oliva Dionne. Thirteen, including four other boys, are living. Mrs. Dionne is 37, her husband 43.

Family of Four Looking For First Home of Its Own

(In the hope Mansfield can find housing for some of the 400 veterans needing homes, the News-Journal is presenting daily one typical case.)

Never since their marriage before the war have Mr. and Mrs. William Warden had a home of their own.

Today the Wardens, with their two children, live in a six-room house, six other persons also reside there.

"We didn't have time to settle down after our marriage before I was shipped overseas," said Warden, "and since my return from 18 months duty in Belgium with the claims bureau of the Army, I have been searching everywhere for something I can afford." Warden's fruitless search has been conducted ten months so far.

"It's not a question of being able to find a house to buy, but rather whether you can afford to pay for it at today's inflationary prices," said Warden.

If you can help give the Wardens their first taste of life in a home of their own call the Veterans' Information Center, 1730-6.

Capture Three of Four Reformatory Escapers

Only one of the four Mansfield reformatory prisoners, who scaled the 30-foot institution wall with the aid of a rope yesterday, was still at large today.

Two of the fugitives, Charles Pierson, 20, Summit county, and Leonard Evans, 23, Cuyahoga county, surrendered to reformatory guards about 3 p. m. yesterday in a culvert under the Erie railroad near the Phoenix hotel on North Main street.

The third escaper, Charles Leftwich, 20, of Franklin county, was apprehended a short time after his escape on North Main street near the Barnes Manufacturing company plant.

Supt. Arthur L. Glattke said Harold W. Romine, 23, of Stark county, was still at large today.

Guards said that the apprehension of the two in mid-afternoon was prompted by clues furnished by some boys who told guards they saw two men enter the culvert. Guards said the prisoners offered no resistance.

Guard M. M. Holycross said he went to the tunnel around 10 a. m. and tried to smoke the prisoners out by building a fire He said he had no flashlight with him at the time.

Guard R. N. McMichael finally succeeded in routing the two men from the culvert. He said the opening would not permit a man to stand upright.

Glattke said that the cases of the three men apprehended after the escape will be reviewed in the institution court Friday and penalties assessed at that time. He added that it was "likely" that all three will be given the usual two-year additional term for escape.

The rope employed in the escape was one being used to haul up tools and materials for a roof repairing job, Glattke said. The quartet made their getaway after the attention of a new guard, William Wise, was distracted.

'PAY UP!' SAYS U. S. TO TITO

Yugoslavia Gets Blank Bill For Damages Resulting From Air Attacks.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States handed Yugoslavia a blank bill for damages today with a sharp notice that it expects Marshal Tito's government to pay the full amount when it is written in.

If Tito agrees, this country stands ready to write "finished" to the incidents in which two unarmed American transport planes were forced down by Yugoslav fighters at a cost of five American lives.

Should Tito refuse, the United States might have to dust off its 13-day old threat to take the case before the United Nations security council.

Most American officials concerned with the matter appeared to believe Tito would agree to indemnity terms, following his recent expression of regret over the incidents and assurances that they would not recur.

But no one was willing to predict for the record the Yugoslav premier's reaction.

The notice that the United States expects damages for the loss of life and property was contained in a 3100-word note delivered by Undersecretary of State William L. Clayton to Dr. Sergije Makiedo, Yugoslav charge d'affaires, last night. The note in fact expressed surprise that Yugoslavia had not volunteered in advance to pay.

Beyond that, Clayton, painstakingly citing numbers, dates, places and types of aircraft, denied a series of Tito claims that American planes were flying virtually at will over Yugoslavia without permission.

Favor Revival of German Exporting

WASHINGTON — (AP) — U. S. military government authorities moved today to build up Germany's export trade and help pay for food being sent there at the expense of American taxpayers.

Brig. Gen. William E. Draper announced the war and commerce departments were working on a plan to send more and more American businessmen to Europe to study the possibility of importing German goods. Draper is the head of the economics division of U. S. military government in Germany.

Teacher 38 Years, She's Back on Job

By NITA BRANSON

Many a man who has risen to fame and fortune does so because somewhere along the line of his education there has been a teacher who thoroughly believes in the fundamentals of the three R's.

That's the philosophy of Miss Mary Engwiller, second grade instructor at Western avenue school, whose services to Mansfield school children covers 38 years.

There's nothing "old-fashioned" about Miss Engwiller's method of teaching. She readily takes up any new idea that comes along, according to Jesse Clark, principal at Western, yet before she adds the frills to her curriculum, she sees to it that every pupil is thoroughly versed in the essentials of a good education.

One would think with such a broad scope of knowledge to be instilled in her pupils, Miss Engwiller would have plenty to do, just teaching.

Yet, according to Clark, she knows intimately the background of every pupil who enters her room. She makes it her business to know a child's family, to know that child's problems and to plan her contact with him according to that knowledge.

This morning Miss Engwiller was getting acquainted with 37 new pupils. Two of them, she felt she knew quite well.

"I taught their fathers," Miss Engwiller said of Carol Ann Proctor and Brenda Bowie. "Their fathers, Fred Proctor and Ralph Bowie, were pupils of mine years ago."

Miss Engwiller has seen many changes since she began her teaching career back in Hedges school. At that time she was a "cadet," helping the first grade teacher and learning the rudi-

Everybody Came But the Teachers

NORWALK, Conn. —(U.P.)— School bells rang to end summer vacations in Norwalk today, and everyone came but the teachers. They're striking for higher pay.

The senior high school was the first to feel the pinch as Superintendent Philip G. Jakob told the 1,800 students to go back to their homes because there was no one to teach them.

The students, in holiday mood, streamed down Mill Hill into the town's business district. Several other school buildings remained locked at the time for classes to start.

WARMER DUE

But Rain Tomorrow Likely to Herald More Cool.

Mansfielders had prospects of warmer temperatures today, and not quite so cool tonight. Forecasters predicted rain tomorrow night as a prelude to a return to unseasonal coolness.

At Hayesville the mercury dropped to 42 degrees last night, after reaching a high of 70 yesterday. It climbed back to 66 shortly before noon today at the OPS Longview sub station.

In the western plains areas, more normal temperatures were recorded. It was 84 as far north as Bismark, N. D. Denver, Colo., recorded 89.

RAISE PROTEST

Greek 'Leftists' Plan Court Challenge of Election.

ATHENS —(AP)— Authoritative quarters in the leftist EAM announced today a decision to challenge in the Greek supreme court the validity of last Sunday's plebiscite which the government has reportedly resulted in an overwhelming majority for the return of King George II from exile.

The challenge, it was stated, would be based on allegations of fraud, violence and falsification, and the case will be heard before the end of September.

The decision was disclosed as the total vote cast Sunday neared 100 per cent of the estimated total registration. The king was officially reported to have received 69 per cent of the vote with only 1136 precincts left uncounted.

CIO LEADERS MEET

AKRON —(AP)— State CIO officials began arriving in Akron today for committee meetings preceding the annual Ohio CIO council convention opening Friday. The four-day conclave will be climaxed by next Monday's PAC meeting when policies and endorsements for the November election will be taken to the floor.

City's Labor Leaders Miss CIO Boss on Visit

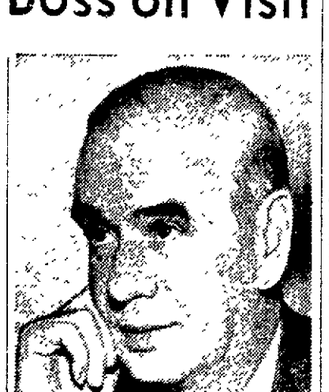
Slipping into Mansfield late last night, Phillip Murray, president of the CIO, spent the night at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, then slipped out early today, reportedly to continue a trip to Chicago.

Although local labor union officials apparently missed the CIO chieftain, Mayor Roy W. Vaughn contacted Murray and officially welcomed him to Mansfield.

Vaughn said he chatted with Murray just as the latter was preparing to board an elevator at the Leland and offered "any of the city's services in order to make his stay here more pleasant."

Local union officials said they learned "via the grapevine" yesterday that the president of the CIO was en route to Chicago from Pittsburgh and might stop in Mansfield.

W. F. McCartney, recording secretary of Local 711, reported that his union held an executive board meeting last night and that they made an effort to reach Murray at the hotel by phone as late at 3:30 p. m., but he hadn't arrived.



PHILIP MURRAY

William F. Bell of Local 169, said he waited at the hotel until about the same hour, then decided that if the busy president of the CIO arrived he would want to retire, so gave up waiting.

Home Building's Too Slow to Suit Wyatt

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Housing Expediter Wilson W. Wyatt took a dim view today of prospects for meeting this year's homes-for-veterans goal.

While some 607,100 dwellings were started during the first seven months of 1946, Wyatt's monthly report said the number of priorities issued in July was too small to assure hitting the target of 1,200,000 new homes under construction by year's end.

In addition, home construction is running into a labor shortage.

Furthermore, Wyatt reiterated that even full attainment of this year's goal still would leave the nation "with a greater shortage of housing, compared with demand, than existed at the beginning of the year."

The report placed the number of new dwellings completed through July at 287,000. But of these only 194,200 were permanent houses and apartment units. The rest were trailers, conversions of existing buildings, or surplus war housing put to re-use.

Only 60,000 Finished.

Only about 60,000 of the individual permanent homes started in 1946 have been finished.

The labor problem for residential work showed up in "a large number of communities," Wyatt said, especially in such skilled trades as bricklaying and carpentering. This trend, he added, "reflects the high level of commercial and industrial building."

Production of scarce building materials has been rising steadily, but not rapidly enough to meet demand. In July lumber output hit a new high, brick production topped all records since December, 1941, and gypsum products attained a postwar high.

Current shortages, however, tend to center in pumbing, hardware and other finishing items which are needed in the latter stages of home construction.

Output of prefabricated homes continued to lag.

TIEUP NEARS

Wage Board Under Pressure to Revise Ship Wage Cut.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The threat of a shipping tieup on all coasts tomorrow built up pressure on the wage stabilization board today to alter its 12-day-old "pay cut" decision affecting AFL sailors.

From within the board and outside, members were being urged to review their August 23 ruling denying 43,000 AFL seagoing unionists wage boosts in excess of the $17.50 a month granted rival CIO unions last June 15.

John Hawk, vice president of the AFL Seafarers International Union, said in New York yesterday that from 94,000 to 100,000 AFL seamen on the Atlantic, Pacific and gulf coasts were ready to walk off their ships Thursday.

FRENCH PLANE CRASH KILLS 20

Second Major Disaster in 24 Hours; Last-Minute Change Saves Greek Official.

PARIS —(U.P.)— An Air France DC-3 airliner crashed into a factory building today as it took off from Le Bourget airfield for London, killing 20 of the 26 persons aboard.

One of the plane's two motors failed a few seconds after it was airborne, and the plane dived into the building at the edge of the historic airfield.

Air France officials said 21 passengers and five crew members were aboard. Four passengers and two crew members survived, according to first airline reports.

The crash was the second major disaster on Air France line within 24 hours. An Air France DC-3 crashed in Denmark yesterday killing 22 persons, shortly after it took off from Copenhagen for Paris.

Prime Minister Constantine Tsaldaris of Greece, who had expected to fly from Paris to London this morning, changed his plans and left Paris on the boat train.

Stocks Ailing With Case of 1929 'Dropsy'

NEW YORK—(INS)—Heavy and persistent selling tumbled the stock market again today, although sporadic rallies buoyed some issues and prevented heavier inroads in other shares.

The tape boiled at the most rapid pace of the year, with the ticket running as much as four minutes behind transactions. The old style curb ticker was six minutes late. First hour sales alone totaled 820,000 shares.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Statisticans estimated today that the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange declined roughly $4,500,000,000 in Tuesday's break.

At noon substantial declines outnumbered gains by a wide margin. Chemicals snapped downward after a show for firmness.

Motors opened weak, rallied to last night's close, then fell off 1 to 2 points. Steels made a comparative good showing. Rubbers managed gains of a point, and some of the rails picked up a little ground.

Utilities were highly irregular at noon with point gains and losses well distributed

TRIPLE-SLAYER ACKNOWLEDGES CRIME CAREER

Young Chicagoan Arraigned in Court Today, Admits Murder of Three Victims.

CHICAGO — (INS) — William George Heirens, 17-year-old killer extraordinary, today entered a plea of guilty to the kidnap murder of little Suzanne Degnan and the killing of two women who got in the way of his headlong career in crime.

Heirens, the strange psychopath, was arraigned this morning before Chief Justice Harold G. Ward of the criminal court.

The black-haired university student chose to plead guilty to the three murders and 29 other indictments charging burglary and assault with intent to kill. He pleaded guilty rather than face the prospect of a trial by jury.

Draws Big Crowd.

At 10.21 a. m., Heirens entered the courtroom of Judge Ward. It was crowded with spectators gathered to see the last chapter in the sensational case of the psychopathic youth who turned killer in his quest for the thrill that wholesale burglaries gave him.

Hesitating only briefly, Heirens pleaded guilty to the murder of 6-year-old Suzanne Degnan, the child who was carried from her bed on the night of Jan. 6 and was killed and her body cut into pieces.

Heirens followed immediately with pleas of guilty to the murders of the former WAVE, Frances Brown, and the widow Josephine Ross. Both women were in the way when Heirens, the prowler, entered their homes intent on night-time burglary.

Judge Gives Warning.

In each instance Judge Ward warned the defendant of the possible consequences of the guilty pleas, including the fact that Heirens might be sent to the electric chair to pay for his crimes.

Heirens appeared cool and resigned to whatever fate holds for him. He wore a suit for the first time since his arrest. It was a green tweed. With it he wore a blue shirt and a necktie with a loud pattern.

To each charge Heirens solemnly answered:

"Guilty."

A brief recess was called on the request of State's Attorney William J. Tuohy shortly after Heirens answered the last of the pleas.

Tuohy requested the recess so that he might present evidence in the murder of Suzanne Degnan, the most spectacular crime committed during Heirens' career of murder, robbery and assault.

Heirens then was taken back to his cell in the county jail.

Heirens, after lengthy and exhaustive examinations by three nationally prominent psychiatrists, was termed sane within the definition of the criminal statutes in their report returned yesterday.

It was possible that Judge Ward may now sentence him to three life terms in the penitentiary.

KILLED BY ENGINE

Transient Struck By Erie Locomotive Near GBU.

A man tentatively identified as Emmett E. Workman of Hillsboro or Lynchburg, O., was instantly killed when struck by a Diesel engine on the Erie railroad tracks near GBU park last night, Sheriff Frank E. Robinson reported today.

Engineer L. J. McAdow of Marion who was piloting the trainless engine said Workman was sitting on a rail with his head on his knees, apparently sleeping, Robinson reported. The engineer said he did not see the man in the dusk until the locomotive was almost on him.

Identification of the victim was made tentatively from papers in his clothing. He is believed to be almost 50 years of age.

The body was removed to the Jones Memorial where attempts are being made to locate relatives believed living in Hillsboro or Lynchburg, adjoining towns in Highland county.

FIRE ROUTS GUESTS

CLEVELAND—(INS)—Fourteen people were routed from bed early this morning by a $1,200 fire in a three-story Cleveland rooming house. Four companies were required to put out the blaze. Although no one was injured, Vernon Purbis, 25, was trapped on the third floor and was rescued by firemen.

Pegler — Fair Enough

NEW YORK—The memoirs of Elliott Roosevelt and of persons who held office and enjoyed social courtesies which made them more or less intimate with Franklin D. Roosevelt will call for a running accompaniment of exception if the record is to be kept straight for posterity.

The minority of the Pearl Harbor committee complained that its inquiry was cramped by the withholding of records which were deemed to be the private property of Roosevelt's estate so the possibility naturally occurs to mind that the Roosevelt papers which are to become a national "treasure" and a charge on the people's taxes in the library at Hyde Park may be culled and edited to the advantage of his reputation and the distortion of history.

Currently, Elliott Roosevelt is commercializing his version of private conversations between his father, as host, and Winston Churchill, as guest, to Churchill's detriment.

Manners change with the times and a historian might not know that the unwritten law of polite hospitality in our time assured the guest that his remarks and his conduct and the nature and quantity of his drinks would not be discussed, much less written about for profit, by a member of the family of the host. In this respect, Elliott may be either behind or ahead of his time, but he is not current. It seems almost certain that Mr. Churchill was not put on warning that this would be done and I am equally confident that he would have expressed himself well had he been so warned.

Nevertheless, Elliott conveyed an impression that Churchill, alone, emptied a bottle of brandy in one evening and that the others present abstained.

Again, in a book called "Dinner at the White House", by Louis Adamic, who is cited forty times in the official report to congress of the Dies committee on Unamerican Activities, Churchill gets an unfavorable press from one who shared with him the status of guest.

"Dinner at the White House" is largely an advertisement of an earlier work by Adamic, who is a naturalized Yugoslav. Churchill wanted to invade Europe through the "soft under-belly" of the Adriatic and the Balkans. All communists opposed this and they still maintain that the Normandie coast was the correct point for the invasion although the attack there met prepared fortifications backed by much better communications than the enemy could have had in the Balkans.

Churchill's purpose was to thwart the present Russian domination of the Danube and the Balkans which many authorities now regard fearfully as a hatching place for another war. The communists clamored for a second front in France but the most vociferous of them never went there. Adamic writes that he urged Roosevelt to abandon plans for a full-scale invasion of the Balkans, proposing instead that the United States send arms to Marshal Tito, who so recently shot down five unarmed American soldiers with some of those very weapons.

In this little work about the dinner party, Adamic permits himself a liberty which I have never allowed myself in such circumstances. I have lunched at the White House and attended a picnic at Hyde Park but my understanding of manners forbade me to describe these parties or comment on my fellow guests. To ask permission to do would be unthinkable to me.

Adamic tells us that no member of the Roosevelt family and no one present at the dinner saw any part of his book in script."

He relates that Roosevelt, who certainly knew Churchill was a brandy man, offered the prime minister an orange blossom cocktail. I count on Mrs. Emily Post to support my contention that the host, in common courtesy, should have provided brandy. The evidence of international boorishness is supported by Adamic's report that Roosevelt presently raised the shaker and, "grinning", asked Churchill "how about a refill?"

Churchill declined "glumly" but otherwise held his tongue.

But, suiting his manners to Roosevelt's would he not have been justified to pour the orange blossom into the fern pot or the fireplace and spit in Roosevelt's eye?

Adamic's own code need not concern the historian but the selection of such a guest to dine with the prime minister is a point for legitimate consideration. Roosevelt exposed him to critical if not hostile company for intimate observation which Churchill might have loathed with decent reason and to subsequent prejudiced interpretation of the events of the evening?

Strange times. Strange people. Strange manners, to say no worse.

TRIESTE—(AP)—In comely, contumacious Trieste, where few good words are said for anything allied, the sharpest brickbats are saved for the year-old, allied-created Venezia Giula civil police force.

Its organizer and superintendent, 39-year-old Lt. Col. George "Finger" Richardson, on loan from the London metropolitan force, catches the missiles in his ham-like hands, stacks them neatly, grins, and says:

"We love it. As long as they're whacking away at us from both sides, we figure we're doing all right."

Richardson and his British and American assistants have put the force together since the allies disbanded the "difesa popolare," the enforcement arm of the Yugoslav "people's committees, in June 1945.

Triestinos' criticism — and the force has had it hot and heavy from both pro-Slav and pro-Italian factions in this disputed city—leaves him unmoved.

"If we didn't get this outcry we wouldn't think we were doing a proper job of law enforcement," he says.

Most persistent accusation is that the policemen, 65 per cent of whom are of Italian extraction, are partial to the Italians in an area where impartiality is the sine qua non of allied policy.

Richardson readily admits that complete freedom from bias in the increasingly hectic local situation is an ideal, rather than an actuality.

"You're bound to have some excesses," he says. "You can't take nationality out of these people overnight."

A division detective inspector at Scotland Yard, Richardson entered the army in 1943 to help the old Amgot organize the Italian territories that began falling to allied armies with the invasion of Sicily.

"I got to Trieste in June, 1945," he says, "and they gave me an office and told me to make a police force. I sat in the office with Jim Cowan (American officer formerly ot the Cleveland, Ohio, police force, now returned to the States), and we looked at each other across the bare desks, and we said, 'Well, we've got to make a blooming police force.'" They agreed to model it after London's Bobbies.

Some of the "difesa popolare" members were enlisted for the new force. Today it numbers 4,500 men—25 per cent of whom are Slovene, 10 per cent Serb, Croat and of other national stock, and 65 per cent Italian. It is provided with allied arms and has 300 vehicles from jeeps to armored cars.

Of the 25 allied officers—19 British, six Americans—running the force, 17 are career police officials, including Maj. O. T. Mathis and Capt. T. Cawthorne of Los Angeles, and Capt. A. Bernard of New York City. Allied officers are superintendents and assistant superintendents, but everything below that is Triestino.

ARRESTS, AUTO ACCIDENTS GO UP IN AUGUST

20 Persons Reported Injured in 83 Accidents in City Last Month.

Mansfield police made 254 arrests during August to top July's total by 60 while the number of auto accidents, injuries and fatalities in August also climbed above the previous month's totals.

In August there were 83 auto accidents as compared to 65 during July. Injuries due to auto accidents went from 15 in July to 20 during August and fatalities went from none to one.

Nearly half of the arrests made during August were on intoxication charges. Last month 129 persons were booked on that charge as compared with 97 in July.

Fifty-eight of the arrests were for traffic violations and of these 26 were on speeding charges, seven on charges of driving while under the influence of alcohol and seven on charges of unsafe operation of a motor vehicle.

Of the total arrests, three were on robbery charges, two each on breaking and entering, grand larceny or auto larceny charges. One arrest was made on a charge of grand larceny and one on a juvenile delinquency charge.

During the month police issued 841 parking tickets and received $930 in parking fines. Twenty-two fines were collected on tickets issued for crashing a red light and 22 were collected on tickets issued for disregarding a stop sign.

Fines and costs collected as a result of traffic arrests totaled $1,259 as compared with $1,337 in July.

Fifteen of the month's total arrests were on investigation charges. When arrested on this charge a person is held until his record is cleared or a pending charge substantiated. In July 11 persons were booked on the charge.

Other arrests made during the month included: disorderly conduct, 18; assault and battery, 11, and liquor law violations, three.

Wooster Hospital Plans Die on Increasing Costs

Wooster has thrown in the towel.

While Richland county's commissioners are attempting to qualify for federal funds to aid in the financing of their proposed new tuberculosis sanatorium, the city of Wooster last night shelved its $375,000 municipal hospital project.

The Richland county sanatorium, for which voters here approved a $300,000 bond issue last fall, looks less like a reality every day as material and labor costs rise.

John W. Selby, another Richland county commissioner, cited the cost of labor as one of the prohibitive elements in the sanatorium project.

"The county had to pay common labor $1.75 and union labor $2.90 to get a carload of lumber unloaded recently. With costs like those we can't very well build the hospital now," he said.

Bids Rejected.

Faced with similar conditions, Wooster's board of hospital commissioners last night rejected bids on its hospital which would have cost the city $1,000,000 if the bids were accepted.

The board went even further. In another resolution it rejected a proposal to ask voters for another bond issue this fall to raise the additional $625,000 needed if the hospital were to be built now.

Wooster's Service Director Fred Howard reported the board's action, saying:

"Wooster is in the soup. We desperately need a hospital but we can't pay $1,000,000 for a building originally estimated to cost only $375,000. The board simply felt the voters would not approve a bond issue to bring in the additional money."

Wooster currently has only two small private hospitals, each of about 25 beds capacity. The proposed municipal hospital was planned for a capacity of 75 beds.

U. S. Funds Sought.

Richland county's commissioners have been told by their architect, H. S. Jones, and by many contractors that $300,000 is not enough to build the tuberculosis sanatorium now.

Their answer is an attempt to obtain federal aid funds, an estimated $150,000, with which to supplement the revenue from the special bond issue. Since the federal money would be channeled through the state, action on a survey of Ohio's hospital needs by the state department of health is being awaited.

Meanwhile, the commissioners hope to meet with owners of the present sanatorium this week in an effort to renew the county's lease on the building which expired last July.

Housing Goal Half Finished

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Housing Expeditor Wilson W. Wyatt reported today that 607,100 dwellings were started in the first seven months of 1946. This is slightly more than half the year's goal of 1,200,000 starts this year.

Wyatt stressed, however, that even the full attainment of the 1946 goal will leave the country "with a greater shortage of housing, compared with demand, than existed at the beginning of the year."

The impact of demobilization will be felt heavily in the next few months as veterans establish themselves and seek homes, he said, and "this winter will bring more crowding and more difficulty for those seeking homes."

FUND BUDGETS DUE FOR ACTION

Requests of Agencies For Money in 1947 to Go to Committee.

Budgets of the "red feather" agencies of the Mansfield Community Fund are being received at the Fund office, Mrs. Jane Williams, executive secretary, said today. The budgets will be given preliminary "check-ups" before they are presented to the budget committee next week.

At least two sessions will be held Monday and Tuesday of next week at 7:30 p. m. with Charles Nail, chairman of the budget committee, in charge, Mrs. Williams added.

Work of the budget committee will be to consider the budgets of 11 agencies of the Community Fund and the administration budget. Each budget must be approved by the budget and executive committees of each of the individual agencies before the budgets are presented to the Community Fund.

Members of the budget committee are John W. Cook, Roy Waxler, J. G. Tuber, Robert Stevens, A. E. Courtney, Harold W. Arlin, Mrs. Mary Gilbert, Roger Bolin, Mrs. T. J. Newcomb, W. C. Mansfield and Clarence Fike.

A Franklin Clever of Shiloh will head the Richland county campaign for the Ohio Field Crop Improvement Fund, to finance a program of research and education aimed at developing and promoting superior strains of field crops throughout the state, it was announced today.

Clever will serve as one of eight chairmen in the Mansfield area in the project. His quota of $569 will help to support research and training projects at Ohio State university and at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment station, Wooster.

Chairmen of the other surrounding counties and their quotas are: Ashland county, E. S. Spotts, of Wooster, $487; Crawford county, Earl Lowmiller of Bucyrus, $221; Holmes county, B. J. Yoder of Millersburg, $541; Knox county, C. D. Blubaugh of Danville, and James W. Fravel of Mt. Vernon, $1,064, Morrow county, C. E. Shumaker of Galion, $258.

Program Set for Outing Sept. 22

Plans for the annual Sons of Italy picnic at GBU park Sept. 22 were nearing completion today.

There will be free dancing during the afternoon and transportation to the park from Mansfield will be free, said Joseph Letizia, in charge of arrangements. There will be games during the afternoon. Admission to the park will be free.

Joseph Saprano is chairman of the picnic committee. Others serving with him, besides Letizia, are Charles Triscari, N. Chillemi, P. Scarlatella, C. Miragliotto, E. Mancini, M. Augustine, S. Cappadonna, P. Spognardi, N. Masciola, P. Lasusa, and C. Carboni.

IN A HURRY—

Employes of the Richland county Auto club believe that man is indeed a strange creature. Following a recent announcement that 1947 Ohio drivers' licenses would be placed on sale Sept. 9, auto club workers were literally swamped with inquiries and demands for the new licenses. In an effort to clear up the misunderstanding, Club Secretary Jack Berger announced today that NO licenses will be placed on sale until Sept. 9. He pointed out that present operators' licenses are good until midnight, Sept. 30. After that it will be illegal to drive without a 1947 permit.

NO TAKERS—

It seems nobody wants to help keep city employes dry. The city building roof leaks—and has been leaking for some months. Every time it rains, or when snow lays on the roof too long, water slowly drips through and down a stairway. So the city decided to advertise for bids for a contract to repair the roof. There were no "takers"—and the roof still leaks.

CUPID'S BUSY—

Dan Cupid worked overtime last month and nearly equaled his all-time high June record in Richland county, marriage license license records revealed. During August, 107 couples were issued licenses to wed, which was just nine less than were issued in the record month of June. A comparison of divorce records indicates that actually Cupid fared even better in August than during the "month of brides." Last month only 47 separation actions were filed as compared with 66 in June.

SETS UP FUNDS FOR EMPLOYING AN ARCHITECT

Approves New Building at Cline and Marion; Work on 2 Other Houses.

City council last night opened the way for construction of a new No. 5 fire station at Marion and Cline avenues and a new or remodeled No. 4 station on Newman street, by setting up $1,000 for architect fees for the projects, $500 for each.

Council also appropriated $435 to remodel and repair the No. 3 station on Chestnut street by relaying bricks and repairing windows.

The architect's findings are expected to determine whether the No. 4 station will be replaced or remodeled.

Land has been purchased for the new station at Marion and Cline avenues to serve the southwest section of the city. The fire projects will be financed with funds provided by the special fire levy.

Council approved two street projects, one calling for grading of Fourth avenue between Orange street and Ashland road and the other providing for resurfacing Hoffman avenue from Park avenue west to the south end of the street.

Other ordinances passed last night authorized vacating the alley running north from Richland avenue between Lots 3626 and 4065 to the north line of these lots, and the payment of claims of Garnet Karl, traffic clerk, for $88.65, and of Floyd Miller, an air hammer operator for the city for $9.

FIRE DESTROYS ASHLAND PLANT

Toy Factory, Opened in July, Razed By Flames; Employes Escape.

ASHLAND — Ashland's newest industry, the Mohican Manufacturing company, was in ruins today. Fire razed the plant in 20 minutes late yesterday afternoon.

Firemen said the blaze was caused by sparks from a welding torch being used for repairs in the plant.

The one-story frame building, roofed with tar paper, was a mass of flames when firemen, called at 3:15 p. m., reached the scene. The loss, estimated at $20,000 by the company president, Elmer H. Stiffler, is covered for the most part by insurance.

Employes Escape.

Loss included the building and all contents, comprising machinery, toy products stored for shipment, and office supplies and records. One large shipment had left the factory before the blaze, Stiffler stated.

The 15 employes in the factory escaped injury, the company president said

Opened In July.

Opened for business July 20, the Mohican company, in addition to Stiffler, had as officers, Thomas Withers, general manager and secretary; C. E. Jamison, vice president, and Glenn Faulkner, treasurer.

Officials of the company expect to announce future plans soon.

Two Make Bids On Storm Sewer

City board of control received for consideration today two offers to install a storm sewer on McPherson street and one to bore wells in the Clear Fork area.

Service-Safety Director William W. Enlow said that Roger J. Au bid $5,338 on the sewer job while R. O. Darling bid $4,399.

The Saltzgaber Drilling company's offer to make the test borings at $2.78 per lineal foot was the only bid submitted. The well will enable the closing of one which interferes with proposed construction of the Clear Fork dam.

Stephan Wins 'By a Leg'; Corn Contest 'Ear to Ear'

It was Stephan "by a leg"—but Schwan and Coleman chewed through to a tie score "by an ear."

The event was the Mansfield Co-operative club's annual corn and chicken eating contest. The time and place: last night at McCready's cabin, near Alta.

Earl Stephan "walked away" with the chicken eating title by going back for his sixth helping. The corn eating contest was an ear-and-ear battle, however.

When the husks cleared away, Gordon Schwan and T. A. Coleman each had put away seven ears.

Some 50 members and their guests took part in the party and saw Frank Bunsey win the golf driving contest with a 325-yard smash, straight as an arrow.

Desert? Well, it was nearly lost to City Solicitor Leslie K. Wagner. He was yanked off of the pie-cutting detail when he was discovered staging a one-man eating contest.

In charge of arrangements for this annual stomache stuffing affair were Charles C. Payne, John Kullman and R. Earl Brandenburg.

Cubs Hottest Thing in NL -- Win 15 of Last 19 Starts

Hal Clawson

A post season softball game may be in the making if a couple of parties can get together.

Some weeks ago, Johnny Villella proposed a contest between his team of "old timers" and a club made up of some of the younger players in town.

B. F. "Pop" Lindsey, 39 West Second street, and Howie Waldman came along with their choices as teams to take on Villella's outfit of veterans.

Late last week a card arrived from Villella who is now undergoing some medical treatment at Mt. Clemens, Mich.

John says to "get the gang ready for the week of Sept. 9 and also tell the team to have the park and umpires and I will get my team on the field."

So it appears that Villella's challenge stating that his team "could lick any softball team in town" will be tested if the younger team still wants to accept it.

Named on the "old timers'" squad were H. Aston, R. Hunt, Aid Geiger, Jim Fullager, Tom Henrich, Fritz Vogel, Schaeffer, Hummel, Ross, Ganni and Moxley.

The following were named on the teams named by Lindsey and Waldman: Dale McKinley, Bob Regula, Larry Madden, Bill Friend, Joe Lesch, Bob Parr, Charles Daugherty, Bob Boyd, Kenny Windsor, Pete Campbell, Waldman, Walye Hough, Bill McCarrick, "Boop" Ulich, Bob Bogantz and Baki.

Apparently Villella will be satisfied with any park and any of the city's umpires. It kinda looks like it's up to the Lindsey and Waldman teams to line up these two matters.

This department will be glad to keep the folks posted on the site of the tilt and when it will be played.

The former Mansfield high product has had to quit the gridiron due to an old shoulder injury. Participating in summer drills, the shoulder was banged-up and it has failed to respond to treatment.

Tribe Wins 2 From Browns

DETROIT —(UP)— Rejuvenated by the discovery that it was still possible for them to win games on the road, the Cleveland Indians pulled into Detroit tonight ready to fight for their newly-won fifth place position

The Tribe bounced out of the doldrums yesterday with a double victory over the St Louis Browns 5 to 3 and 7 to 3 The twin victory moved the Indians back up to a fifth-place tie with the Chicago White Sox

Cleveland jumped on Stan Ferens for four runs in the sixth inning of the opener, and that proved enough to win although Bob Feller had to rush to the rescue when starter Bob Lemon faded in the eighth.

* * *

The Indians overcame a 2 to 1 deficit in the nightcap with another four-run uprising, this one in the third inning. Pat Seerey's 22nd home run of the season was the big blow. Reliever Joe Berry took credit for the victory.

Feller may go after his 23rd victory once again today after five futile efforts, with Hal Newhouser (23-6) as his opponent.

BEST EVER—WATTS

BEREA, O —(AP)— Coach Ray Watts tagged his 1946 football squad as "the best I've ever had," as he watched 83 of his Baldwin-Wallace huskies go through their first workout yesterday Watts is starting his 19th season at the college, but this is the first time he's had 25 returning lettermen, and four monogram winners from other colleges.

Large Grid Squad Out at Bellville

Coach Kibler Sees Blue Jays as Only 'Fair' After Two Weeks of Practice

By HAL CLAWSON, News-Journal Sports Editor.

BELLVILLE—After two and one-half weeks of grid drills Coach Orville Kibler sizes up his Bellville high Bluejays as looking only "fair."

Richland county's lone class B school that will field a football team this fall, the Jays will be competing in their second season after a lapse of three years.

Coach Kibler and his 1945 squad found things rough going since most of the players were unfamiliar with the game and they had to start from scratch.

But this year it will be somewhat different. There are six lettermen back to give Kibler a pretty good nucleus to work with Several players who failed to win letters last fall will also be back this season.

"Most of our practice has been on fundamentals," stated Kibler yesterday. "Our blocking isn't what it should be at the moment but we still have another week before the season's opener against the Mansfield reserves."

"The boys are improving but we still have a long way to go," is the way "Kib" sums up his squad right now

Finding a passer and kicker are the main worries of the Bluejay mentor. But he feels that Jim Gleeson, a sophomore, will be the club's punter on the basis of his boots in practice.

Although without any game experience, Gleeson has shown up well to date and is certain to see plenty of service.

Homer Walker, a returned veteran, looks like the best passer in the Bellville camp. He has been able to hit his receivers and will probably work his way into the starting lineup.

Other candidates who are battling for starting jobs are: ends—Bill O'Neal, Bill Lyons, Glen Lacey, Stan Bowers.

Tackles—Glen Worner, Donley Leedy, Dwain Spayde, Jack Cunningham.

Guards—Jim Fry, Phil Stoodt, Max Stahl, Wilbur Walker, Bill Keller.

Backs — Homer Walker, Bill Smith, Jim Gleeson, Jim Gatton, Chuck Myers, Bill Balliet, Ray Bell, Fred Collins, Lawrence Hoeflick, Jack Lenhart, Donley Weller.

Jim Showecker, another war veteran, may return to the squad after recovering from an operation. He weighs a mere 210 pounds and will be of help to the Bluejay forward wall.

That squad includes four seniors, seven juniors, 16 sophomores and six freshmen

Coach Kibler will get more of a line on his team tomorrow afternoon when he takes his boys to Shelby for a scrimmage with Al Fendrick's Whippets.

Tom Ritter, a former Bellville high basketball star, is helping Kibler with the coaching duties at the present but he will be leaving soon for Kent State university.

An assistant coach had been hired by the Bellville school board but he resigned to take another job in Michigan.

Bellville's schedule, which has been printed previously, includes, besides the Mansfield reserves, Fredericktown, Utica, Centerburg, Danville, Mt. Gilead and Ashley.

Barnes Manufacturing company defeated Gorman-Rupp, 9 to 5, last night at Prospect park to clinch the 1946 Industrial softball league championship.

Barnes copped 10 of 12 league games to tack up the loop pennant. The Barnes aggregation had previously won the district softball title at Marion but was knocked out of the state tourney at Springfield.

Gorman-Rupp had a mathematical chance for the title prior to playing the twice postponed loop tussle last night. G-R's record now stands at eight victories and four defeats.

Stub Winebrenner, Barnes' mound ace, was in rare form for six innings but eased up in the top of the seventh to permit Gorman-Rupp to score five times. Winebrenner gave up only five safeties while his mates pounded Jim Fullager for 14.

* * *

Barnes opened the scoring with a single tally in the second and counted three more in the third. A five-run splurge in the last of the sixth sounded the death knell for the G-R nine.

Vogel, G-R third-sacker, topped the swat parade with a double and triple while Wayne Hough contributed a brace of two-baggers for the winners.

Eagles Sure of Tie at Shelby

SHELBY—The Eagles today were sure of at least a tie for second half championship in the Shelby softball league after their 9 to 8 victory over the Shelby Salesbook company, first half winners Tuesday night on the Waterworks diamond.

In the game which was tied up twice, the Eagles had to rally in the last half of the sixth inning.

The Eagles took a 4 to 2 lead in the first inning, but the Salesbook forged ahead 5 to 4, in the third.

A triple knocked out by Carl Holmes in the fourth inning brought in Kenny Seitz to tie up the game 5 to 5. The Salesbook took the lead again 6 to 5 in the fifth inning with Glenn Fought knocking out a home run. In the sixth inning, the Eagles staged their rally to bring in four runs and make the score 9 to 6.

The Salesbook attempted to overcome the lead in the seventh inning but fell one run short even with Glenn Fought knocking out another home run.

It was the seventh win out of eight games for the Eagles and the third loss out of ten games for the Salesbook.

The Eagles can win the second half title undisputed tonight at 5:45 when they meet the CIO-Steel workers on the waterworks diamond.

Bucks' Backs Out of Action

COLUMBUS, O —(AP)—Although Coach Paul Bixler has limited scrimmage to brief 15 to 20 minute periods of Ohio State gridders' early practice sessions injuries have begun cropping out

Three top backs—Joe Whisler, Jerry Krall and Rod Swinehart—all suffered pulled leg muscles yesterday and Russ Wolfe, a fourth ball carrier, received a cut over his eye while blocking

As a result Tommy James, Dave Templeton and Chuck Gandee were given extra running by Bix to rest the injured backs,

First string Left Guard Bob Jabbusch, who hurt his side last week, was back in action, however, shoving Ray DiPierro back to the second team.

Don Lashly Steubenville tackle, is out with a broken thumb and End Dale Bonnie has infected ankles.

Bixler is still busy trying to place his players Dick Shannon, Akron freshman, was moved from fullback to end, and a new left halfback was added to the squad —Ben Barber of Cuyahoga Falls.

Tygers Prep For Annual Grid Clinic

Mansfield footbal fans will get their first formal look at the 1946 Tyger grid squad tomorrow night when the annual clinic is held.

Starting at 8 o'clock under the Stadium field lights, the clinic will give the fans a glimpse of Coach Paul Snyder's club in full battle dress.

Sponsored by the Tyger booster club in cooperation with the high school athletic staff the clinic will give the players a chance to perform under the arcs for the first time this season.

Herb Smith, Tyger club prexy and chairman of the clinic, will act as master of ceremonies and introduce Harold Arlin, president of the school board and also the president of the athletic association, Supt. W. L. Miller and Principal Glenn G. Rohleder.

* * *

Every player will be introduced and then Coach Snyder and his aides will send the squad through what will amount to a regular day's drill greatly cut down.

Various plays will be set up and will be explained to the fans over the P. A. system.

Topping off the clinic will be a scrimmage between the varsity's ones and twos and also scrimmage between Reserve Coach Fred Staub's first and second teams.

Band Director J. Merton Holcomb will have his Tyger marching band out to play for the clinic but will forego the marching until the Marion game a week from Friday night.

Dodgers Drop Off OSL Pace

(By United Press)

The Springfield Giants picked up what might be an important half game in the fight for the Ohio State league pennant last night.

The league-leaders fought to an 8 to 8 tie with the suddenly dangerous Dayton Indians at Dayton when the game was called after 10 innings because of the 11:50 curfew.

Meanwhile the second-place Zanesville Dodgers dropped a 10 to 4 decision to the slugging Newark Moundsmen and fell 1½ games off the pace

Middletown sank further into the cellar when the Richmond Roses won a 10 to 9 affair at Middletown. The victory maintained the Roses' one-game lead over fourth-place Newark.

* * *

The Lima Terriers almost clinched fifth place with a 9 to 5 decision over Marion, but lost their star pitcher. League President Frank Colley fined Virgil Feeney $50 and set him down for the rest of the season for threatening an umpire in a Labor day game.

Idle Cards See Lead Cut to Two Games

Brooklyn Returns to Home Field to Face Braves; Cubs at St. Louis.

By WALT BYERS, UP Sports Writer.

NEW YORK—(UP)—For the second straight season, the Chicago Cubs were hot-footing down the National league stretch today, but it appeared this year that Father Time, the Cardinals and the Dodgers had them licked.

Manager Charlie Grimm's defending champions currently are on a rocket ride. They whipped Pittsburgh, 2 to 0, yesterday behind Lefty Bob Chipman's five-hit pitching to win their 15th victory in their last 19 games which is winning baseball at a .772 clip.

A sizzling streak like that—straight through September—could bring the flag to Wrigley field for the second consecutive year although the Cubs currently are eight games behind the league-leading Cardinals and six behind Brooklyn. But going into a clutch series at St. Louis tonight, with 26 games left, it looked as if Father Time, as well as the Redbirds and the Dodgers have too much of a head start.

The Dodgers, a .500 club on the road and a .747 winner at Ebbets field, returned to their favorite ball park here last night to defeat the Phillies 6 to 4 and cut the idle Cardinals' lead to two games.

Warming up for today's invasion against the Braves, the Dodgers pounded across four runs in the fourth and fifth innings to give Kirby Higbe his 14th victory of the campaign.

Earl Caldwell, 41-year-old salvage expert, won his 12th victory of the season at Chicago when doubles by Ralph Hodgin, Whitey Platt and Taft Wright in the 16th inning gave the White Sox a 4 to 3 victory, dropping the world champions a full three games behind the idle Yankees.

The Indians took a doubleheader at St. Louis. In the opener, the Indians chased Stan Ferens in the sixth inning with four runs and Bob Feller came in to protect Cleveland's lead the last two innings for a 5 to 3 victory and Bob Lemon's pitching triumph A four-run attack, this time in the third, gave the Indians the nightcap, 7 to 3.

Bill Lee pitched his ninth victory of the year at Boston, in the only other game, as the Braves scored four runs in the seventh to defeat the Giants, 5 to 4. Tommy Holmes delivered the big blow, a double good for three runs, while Walker Cooper hit a two-run homer for the Giants in the eighth.

Yesterday's star: Lefty Bob Chipman, whose five-hit pitching and clutch bunt gave the Cubs a 2 to 0 victory over the Pirates, his ninth triumph and his team's 15th in its last 19 games.

Servo Refuses To Fight— Loses Title

NEW YORK —(UP)— Marty Servo of Schenectady, N. Y., although stripped of his welterweight title by the New York boxing commission, remained the 147-pound king of the National Boxing association today—at least for a week.

When informed of Servo's dethronement by the New York group, Abe J. Greene, N. B. A. president, said at Paterson, N. J.:

"We still consider Servo as welterweight champion. The question of continued recognition will be considered at next week's N. B. A. convention in Cleveland."

Greene indicated that unless the New York commission asked the N. B. A. to concur in its decision, the National association would string along with Servo.

The welterweight crown was lifted from Servo yesterday when the Schnectady scrapper refused to go through with a scheduled title defense against Ray (Sugar) Robinson at Yankee stadium Friday night, after his third request for a postponement was refused.

The commission also put into immediate effect indefinite suspensions against Servo, Manager Al Weill and Trainer Charlie Goldman and claimed the $2,000 forfeit which Servo had deposited with the commission to bind his defense against Robinson.

Sugar Supply Jumps In City As New Stamp Becomes Valid

Although housewives were reported as having trouble finding sugar for which to cash their ration stamps in many other cities, Mansfield consumers will have hundreds of thousands of pounds of it at their disposal later this week, it was learned today.

The Associated Press reported that consumers were unable to cash stamp 49 for their sugar supplies before Spare Stamp 51 became valid last Sunday.

Wholesalers here said, however, that a recent scarcity of the product is to be met with several carloads due in the city later this week or early next week. One said he had 320,000 pounds "on the road" and another said he is to receive 200,000 pounds this week.

A few retailers reported they were unable to cash their customers' ration stamps and blamed their difficulties on the OPA rationing system.

Wholesalers explained that some retailers "had got into trouble" by selling sugar without demanding stamps and then found they couldn't get supplies from their wholesalers because of their lack of coupons.

Spare Stamp 51 is to be good until Dec. 31. Stamp 49, which was to have expired last Saturday, was extended by the OPA until Sept 30, because of the reported shortage in many cities.

In addition, housewives now have two stamps valid for home canning purposes. They are Spare Stamps 9 and 10, good for five pounds of sugar each through Oct. 31 for canning purposes exclusively.

The Children.

3—In Memoriam

IN LOVING MEMORY of my dear and only child, Jessie H. Grice who went away 6 years ago, and I, her mother left all alone.
Waiting to cross the river,
I fancy I can hear her
Singing one of her favorite hymns.

When we walk with the Lord in the light of His Word what a glory He Sheds on our way when we do
His good will He abides with us
Still and with all who will trust and obey
Chorus
Trust and obey for there is
No other way to be happy
In Jesus for to trust and obey.

Mother Mrs. L. Robinson.

PILES ARE NEVER "MILD"

DANGER IN NEGLECT

No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder.

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formations without tendency to heal themselves. Instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in the back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run down tired feelings and general nervous irritability.

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief — written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.

STOMACH TANTRUMS

"Pepto-Bismol is good for that"

Stomach acting up? Help it calm down with soothing PEPTO-BISMOL. For years, many doctors have recommended PEPTO-BISMOL for relief of sour, sickish, upset stomach. It helps retard intestinal fermentation and simple diarrhea. PEPTO-BISMOL tastes good and does good—when your stomach is upset.

A NORWICH PRODUCT

If Stomach Gas or Sour Food Taste Robs You of Sleep

Here's How You May Help, Whether You Eat 500 Pounds or 2000 Pounds of Food In a Year

You can't feel cheerful, be happy and sleep well if your stomach is always upset. As age advances the "old stomach" needs more help. The reason is this:

Every time food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break up certain food particles else the food may ferment, form gas and acid indigestion and gas frequent cause a morbid touchy fretful, peevish nervous condition loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains a very special and potent activating ingredient.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other antacids to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

STOCKS SHOW TENDENCY TO HALT SLUMP

Dealings Fast From Opening, With Many Leaders Still Backing Water.

NEW YORK —(AP)— The stock market developed individual rallying tendencies today but many leaders continued to back water as an aftermath to yesterday's sharpest market break in 16 years.

Dealings were fast from the opening on, with the ticker tape as much as three minutes lated uring the greater part of the forenoon. Volume was at the rate of more than 3,000,000 shares for the full preceedings.

While recoveries of $1 to $5 a share were well distributed around midday, losses at one time ran to $9 or more for some pivotals.

Steels, up at the start, eventually backed down from the best. Assorted Rails, Rubbers and Industrials improved.

The customer rooms of Wall Street brokerage houses were jammed during the morning, just as they were yesterday, but there was little evidence of anything approaching frenzied excitement.

One prominent broker who maintains direct wire connections with his firm's branch offices in major cities reported that customer rooms outside of New York seemed to be more crowded and carried an air of more excitement than those in Wall Street.

Trading during hte first hour totaled 820,000 shares compared with 170,000 yesterday, making this just about the most active opening period of the year.

There was one odd-lot sale of New York and Harlem, usually an inactive stock, at $290, off $10 a share from yesterday's close when this same issue was down by $22 a share for the day.

At noon, American Telephone was down $4 at just above $175, Bethlehem Steel was down a bit more than $2 at $98, Chrysler was off a lige amount at $95.50, and Union Pacific was down $8 at $123. Eastman Kodak was among those on the upside at $223, up $3.

Brokers gave a variety of possible reasons for the market's unusual actions, but many of them were nebulous. At one prominent house, however, there was a definite veering away from international troubles as an underlying reason for the break. It was pointed out that the London market had been holding fairly steady and that this indicated domestic reasons were behind the fall.

STATE OK'S SCHOOL BOND FOR SHELBY

Issue to Go Before Voters in November Election, Board Says.

SHELBY—The way was clear today for submitting a $600,000 bond issue for improvement of the Shelby city schools to the voters at the November election with permission for such an issue granted yesterday to the Shelby city board of education by the state board of appeals at Columbus.

The bond issue will provide funds for the school board to erect two new grade schools in the city and for the remodeling of the present high school building by the addition of a vocational farm shop and vocational home economics department and improvement of the physics and chemistry laboratories, Supt. Byron H. Carmean disclosed.

Sites for the two grade schools are to be selected and other details worked out for the improvement program at a later date, providing the bond issue is approved by the voters.

In addition to the bond issue, a two-mill levy will be presented to the voters to take care of the increased operating costs of the public schools.

Salary increases will be given to the teaching staff providing the levy is approved by the voters. The levy would also help to provide funds to take care of the increased cost of supplies and materials needed to keep the schools operating.

Immediately following the rites, a reception for 50 guests was held at the home of the bride's parents. The table was decorated with roses and candles and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake.

After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Simpson will accompany the bride's parents on a tour through the Ozark mountains. Upon their return the newlyweds will reside in Willard.

CAR ACCIDENTS BEING PROBED

Trailer, Car Overturn When Tire Blows Out; Two Are Taken to Hospital.

BUCYRUS—Bucyrus police and county law enforcement agents investigated a number of accidents in Bucyrus and vicinity over the week-end holiday, two of which sent patients to City hospital for examinations.

Mrs. E. L. Jump, Springfield, O., was taken to the hospital for a check up after the car in which she was riding collided with a car driven by A. M. Stewart, Norton Way, at Mary and Sandusky streets Monday afternoon. Mrs. Jump had undergone major surgery recently, but an examination failed to disclose any injury.

An accident on Route 30, west of Crestline, placed the Rev. Eula Utman, Parkersburg, W. Va., in City hospital. She was in a highly nervous state but an examination failed to disclose any injuries. The accident occurred when a tire blew out. Both the car and an attached trailer were overturned.

Other minor accidents involved cars operated by Ray H. Ebersole, North Sandusky avenue and Clifford E. Brewer, Route 1 Bucyrus, which collided in front of the Ebersole residence, and a car driven by Robert S. Thompson which overturned when it struck a mailbox near Beal avenue and South Sanduky avenue after a car driven by Edgar Adams made a turn in front of the Thompson car.

A taxi operated by Dale Leonard struck a car driven by Robert E. Lane when the taxi backed from the curb on Washington square Monday morning. Atom-Produced Power Planned

OAK RIDGE, Tenn.—(U.P.)—The Clinton laboratories here expect to produce electricity from an atom pile within 18 months to two years, an army spokesman said today. Such production, he said, would be for experimental purposes.

The spokesman's comment was made after Prof. Karl Siegbahn, chief of the Nobel Institute for Physics in Stockholm, was quoted as saying that the United States would have an atom-driven steam turbine operating at Oak Ridge within a year.

Actually, the spokesman said, drawings for the atomic pile have not been made and no contract has been signed for erection of the $2,500,000 project which will be operated by Monsanto Chemical Corp., through the Clinton laboratories.

COUNCIL TO MEET

SHELBY—The Women's council of the Church of Christ will meet Thursday at 9 p. m. at the church.

WATER SYSTEM TROUBLES CITY

Bucyrus to Ask State For Opinion on Supply Problems.

BUCYRUS—While Bucyrus city officials are considering bids recently submitted for erection of a stand pipe to supplement the city's water supply and for landscaping of the Warren anl East street site of the standpipe, the state inspection bureau is to be asked for an opinion on what is most urgently needed in the city's water system.

City officials are hesitating to award the contract for the standpipe and landscaping because they consider the bids "too high." Bids for the standpipe alone range from $74,790 to $77,460 and bids for the building of the base and landscaping of the grounds which cover approximately three city lots, range from $17,750 to $19,730.

BUCYRUS—Swimming pool at Aumiller park closed Monday after concluding its most successful season. A total of $17,880 persons paid $8,841.54 in swimming fees, according to figures released by the service department, and in addition to pool receipts, the park took in $333.95 in concessions during the pool season.

The pool will be drained but the park will remain open for outdoor picnicking during September and October.

COUNCIL SEEKS PUBLIC OPINION ON GARBAGE FEE

Approves Purchase of Three Trucks to Improve Collections.

contention that the cost of garbage collection service be placed on the tax duplicate.

"If we raise the fee without making the service compulsory, how can we be sure that scores of people won't drop the service?" he asked.

"If we simply raise the fee, I'm not sure that it will remedy the situation. It may not provide the increased revenue needed to put the department on a paying basis."

Would Separate Fees.

Councilman Fred Miller said he favored separation of the garbage and ash collection fees.

"Why should a fellow who burns gas have to pay an ash collection fee?" he asked. "If garbage collection is made compulsory, ash collection should not be."

Councilman Charles N. Shultz said he favored definite action "very soon if we're going to do it at all."

Shultz was a leader in organizing the discussion meeting for next Tuesday. He was the first to recommend that councilmen "talk it over with people in your wards to find out what they want."

Long Under Fire.

The city's garbage collection fee has been under political fire for years. The fees have not, in recent years, been sufficient to keep the department out of the red.

This year, Sanitation Supt. Al Strachan estimates, the department will go some $26,000 in the hole. He said it costs the city $10.78 per customer to provide the $7.20-a-year service. It was because of this difference between income and cost of service that council authorized the $9,500 subsidization for garbage collection and burning operations.

The ash collection system came in for strong criticism last winter because crews, working under different conditions and with inadequate equipment, were unable to keep apace of ashes piling up in city basements.

Seven Enlist In Army Here

Partly to beat the draft, partly to get advantages under the GI Bill of Rights, and in order to pick their choice of service branch and theater, seven area men were enlisted in the army today through the Mansfield recruiting station.

Commanding Officer Lt. Thomas Blackburn reported an increase in enlistments within the past week, pointing out that neither enlistees nor draftees will gain full advantage of the GI Bill after Oct. 5. He said that 32 area men were enlisted during the past month.

Enlisted today were Samuel J. Dodd, Donald E. Mills, William E. Reick, Richard E. Turner, and Gaylord R. Strine of Crestline, Dale M. Hootman of Ashland, and Jaque R. Beaver of Shelby.

GET BUS HOLIDAY

Former Polk Mayor Dies Early Today

ASHLAND—John Samuel Kaufman, 77, former cashier of the Polk State bank and one-time mayor of Polk, died of a heart attack early this morning at his home in Polk. He had been ill three years.

Born in Polk, he was graduated from Ohio Northern university and also attended Ashland college. He was a member of the Polk Methodist church and once served as superintendent of the Sunday school. He was cashier of the Polk State bank from 1916 to 1943 when he retired.

He also had taught in schools in the vicinity and had been a druggist. He was mayor of the community for one term and also served as postmaster.

A 32nd degree Mason, he was a member of the Al Koran of the Cleveland consistory. He also belonged to the Commandery of Mansfield and in Ashland was a member of the Blue lodge, Chapter and Council, the White Shrine, and the Eastern Star.

He is survived by his wife, Hattie, three daughters, Mrs. Mary Eva Paparoni, of Miami, Fla., Kathrine, and Ethel, of Cleveland, and one brother, James, of Polk.

Friends may call at the Denbow-Bear funeral home in Ashland tonight from 7 until 9 p. m. and at the Kauffman residence in Polk until 1 p. m. Friday. The body will lie in state at the Polk Methodist church for one hour prior to services at 2:30 p. m. Friday. Rev. J. Lyon will officiate. Burial will be in Polk cemetery.

Thief Takes Tire; Leaves an Old One

The thief who stole a $60 truck tire from a Frank Williams company truck-trailer was at least considerate enough to leave a replacement. But it was a worn out one.

Howard Bosh, 420 Beethoven street, manager at the Williams Transfer and Storage concern, North Franklin street, told officers that the 1,900 by 20 tire was taken sometime between Sunday and yesterday. An old tire was left in its place, he said.

ments of teaching. That was the day when it was not necessary for a potential teacher to have two years of college training before assuming the cloak of preceptor.

Thirty-eight years ago, children were more or less "seen but not heard." Today's different method of home discipline has also made a difference in teacher discipline.

"Children are not as quiet as they used to be," Miss Engwiller declared. "They have much more freedom than they used to have."

With this freedom has come, undoubtedly, greater development of personalities but it also makes the job of teaching a little broader. One must have, not only the knowledge of what makes good discipline but also the fundamentals of psychology.

Today's teacher is not merely a pedagogue; she is instructor, adviser, friend and psychiatrist. In 38 years of teaching, Miss Engwiller has become all four.

As Miss Engwiller starts her 39th year, she brings to it the same enthusiasm, the same zest for teaching young minds, that she had when she began. She has learned through the years the essentials that make for good teaching and happy children.

She has learned above all, Clark said this morning, the art of cooperation, with other teachers and her principal as well as with her children and their parents.

MISS ABBIE B. REESE

GALION—Word of the death of Miss Abbie Bull Reese, 86, a cousin of the late Samuel Reese of Galion, and a relative of the late John C. Bull of Galion, has been received here. She died at her home in Bloomington, Ill., Aug. 28. Services and burial were held there Aug. 30.

Miss Reese, a talented painter, was director of the Illinois Wesleyan college fine arts department for 19 years, giving private instructions and collecting works of art and art literature. The collection, recently donated to the Illinois State Normal university, included 200 volumes of rare editions.

Her father won renown in the middle west as a constructor, being commissioned to erect many of the buildings on the grounds where the 1893 World's Fair was held.

Miss Reese had lived in the family home since her father died.

PARENTS KICK ABOUT SEWAGE

Ohio Street Home-Owners Air Their Grievance Before City Council.

That sewage-in-open-ditches question popped up again last night and councilmen promised to "investigate" and seek a solution.

A group of Ohio street homeowners complained about raw sewage which drains into Ritters run from a storm sewer. Not only is the odor from the stream unpleasant, they said, but the sewage is a health hazard to scores of children.

"The situation has been the same for two years," one declared.

Promises Inquiry.

Chairman Clifford Knarr, of council's sewer-garbage committee, said he would "investigate" to determine whether the city or the health department must enforce regulations concerning disposition of sewage. He told the home-owners he would "let them know."

City Solicitor Leslie K. Wagner declared, however, that it's both the city's and health board's responsibility.

The city must enforce regulations requiring the use of sanitary sewers for sewage if they are available; the health board must enforce regulations concerning health hazards, he said.

May File Charges.

One of the Ohio street residents said that it has been determined that three houses on Mendota avenue are draining sewage into storm sewers which in turn drain into Ritters run.

Dr. W. B. Wild said today that if he is informed of the specific violators he will file charges against them.

He added, however, that the attack on the problem can be two-pronged. "The city can enforce its storm sewer-sanitary sewer regulation and the health department can enforce regulations which prohibit the dumping of sewage into open ditches," he said.

PARENTS OBJECT TO SCHOOL PLAN

Western Avenue Area Stirred By Half-Day Schedule For Grade Pupils.

Meanwhile, rumors were circulating that the parents of the pupils were planning to petition the board of education for additional classroom space.

Comments from some of the parents of fifth and sixth grade pupils ran like this:

"We can't take the responsibility of teaching the children at home when we are not acquainted with the system their regular teacher employes," one mother said.

"It seems to me that the school board could transfer the children who live on the south side of Park avenue west to Brinkerhoff where there are no crowded conditions," another said, adding, "Western Avenue school was supposedly one of the first to be enlarged under the new school building plan. Last spring a Quonset hut was available for extra room, but was not purchased."

Another mother said she "heard" that four classrooms would be vacant at Senior high school this year. Herman D. Bishop, assistant principal at Senior high, denied this, saying that two rooms, formerly not used, had been converted into home rooms for the emergency.

The board of education has scheduled the Western avenue school addition high on the list of improvements to come under the $2,111,000 school and library program voted last fall, but work on the program has been held up because of the shortage of materials and labor.

As the public schools opened inday, Supt. Miller said 3,558 elementary pupils were enrolled while 1,451 pupils started classes in the two junior high schools and 1,173 were registered at Senior high school. Enrollments are expected to show marked increases during the next two weeks.

MANSFIELD, OHIO, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1946

As an example of what is known as "bowing to the inevitable," notice the way OPA is sanctioning price increases.

Henry Wallace has an idea that "there's quite a bit of wind of progressivism blowing through the South"—but the wind of Bilboism is even more noticeable.

Word comes that members of the Japanese diet have voted themselves a 600 per cent increase in pay—and thus does the influence of democracy extend to far places.

Short Supply Makes High Prices

SEVERAL months of restrained buying appears to be what is needed to re-establish a near-balance between supply and demand in this country.

Not an organized "buyers' strike," as has sometimes been proposed, but a cutting down of buying to immediately needed essentials, rather than making purchases that could just as well be deferred for several months—possibly a year.

Many of the present shortages extend back to basic raw materials, which cannot be produced fast enough to meet super-normal demands. This applies to iron, steel, and several other minerals, as well as to lumber, wood pulp, cotton, leather, fats and oils, and many other items.

OPA muddling has brought a temporary meat surplus, at high prices, but this is at the cost of equalized distribution through the winter and next spring—which argues for preservation of as much of the present supply as possible, to avoid famine conditions later.

It is noted that production of many commodities has already reached a peak, with industrial employment at a new high, but even this enormous output is not sufficient to quickly meet the tremendous demands that result from years of scarcities.

Wage increases and material shortages are largely responsible for the present trend toward excessively high prices in many lines of merchandise and if there could be a general adoption of a policy of confining purchases to actually needed articles—including automobiles—for the next few months . . . even a year—the old law of "supply and demand" would be given an opportunity to resume operation in the matter of determining values and prices.

Schools Opening, Drive Carefully

OPENING of schools places increased responsibility on automobile drivers, for, at all times, the greater part of responsibility for avoiding injuring or killing a school child rests upon the driver.

It is all very well, after an accident, to be able to say defensively that the child dashed unexpectedly into the street, but this does not serve to clear the mind of life-long recollection of the tragic moment when the impact of a small body was felt against the car.

Signs are posted in the vicinity of schools, warning against high speed, but even moderate speed is sometimes too fast to avoid hitting a child that runs into the street without realization of danger.

Constant watchfulness is also an essential while driving in school zones, as it must be taken into account by motorists that many of the children going to or from school are likely, in a careless or fun-loving moment, to dart unsuspectingly into the street in front of an oncoming car.

Those drivers who are inclined to speed up and pass other cars on the street—usually without good reason—are the most likely prospects for accidents involving school children . . . and for any of them who are unable to read it is suggested that this be read to them.

Remember the children. Consider it a part of your duty, and responsibility, to help them protect themselves on their way to and from school.

New York's Musicless Hotels

EXTENT to which music is an essential part of modern hotel service may be determined by the outcome of the musicians' strike now in effect in New York City, with threat of sympathetic support in some other big cities.

In fact Music Czar Petrillo says he will "stop at nothing within the law" in enforcing musicians demands for a 25 to 50 per cent pay increase.

The idea of providing musical entertainment as a part of hotel hospitality has become a large development from a small beginning, and the extent to which this has become competitive in big city hotels opens the way for the pressure treatment they are now being accorded.

It can scarcely be doubted that the $30,000-a-week figure mentioned in connection with Bing Crosby's forthcoming transcribed programs has put some new ideas into the minds of musicians inclined to recognize an equality of capability—and with Mr. Petrillo moving to guard against competition by banning a Mexican orchestra scheduled to play in California, there is no appearance of legitimate reason why the Crosby pay shouldn't be put forward for all musicians—equality of talent being assumed, of course.

In any event, with the present overcrowding of hotels, any slight help in temporarily cutting down patronage will probably be welcomed—and managers point out at least one advantage to patrons: "No music, no 26% entertainment tax."

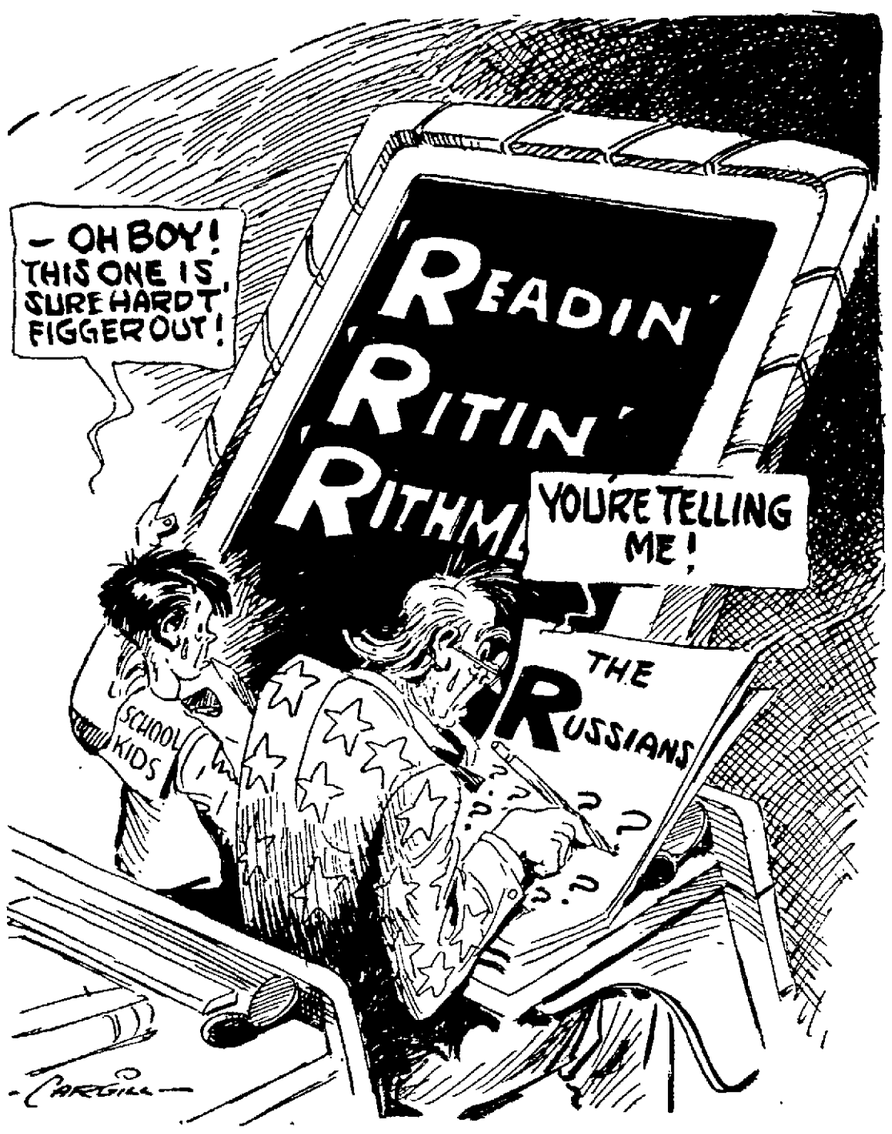
Skilled Workers Among Displaced

OF THE displaced persons in UNRRA camps in Germany, 62 per cent have been found possessed of occupational skills which would make them useful in any country. This is announced by Lieut. Gen. Sir Frederick Morgan, until lately chief of UNRRA operations that have to do with displaced persons.

This strengthens President Truman's idea of admitting a limited number of immigrants into this country by utilizing unused quotas.

Now that the atomic bomb "know-how" is in fine shape, how about a little diplomatic "know-how"?

ANOTHER "R" JOINS THE THREE



Meat Is Temporarily Plentiful, Then Expect Another Shortage

By RAYMOND MOLEY

OMAHA — A drive over the highway between Denver, Lincoln and Omaha reminded this writer of government at its best and at its worst. The highways built and maintained by government are magnificent. They are great public works — monopolistic, uncomplicated by competition among men. To build them involves engineering and management of material things. Only in a minor degree do they involve the considerations of human psychology.

But over these highways are passing reminders of a great governmental failure—the failure to comprehend the mixture of human psychology and economic law involved in price control.

It seems that everything that can carry a cow, a steer, a calf or a hog is rolling on the roads to market. The lean and the fat—mostly the lean—the old and the middle-aged and the young are going to the same destiny—your dinner table. This rush of animals to slaughter will last a little while, and then it will stop. Then housewives will return from the markets empty-handed once more.

For months and years, cattle and other animals have eaten in idleness. They have consumed grains which might have sustained hungry millions abroad. The small supply of meat flowed into illegitimate markets.

Now, for the moment, the process is reversed. The decontrol board has decreed that, since meat constitutes nearly a fifth of the family food budget, government subsidies will be provided to lower present prices and bring them back closer to those of June 30.

But government must have time to prepare regulations. And so it is decided that meats shall come back under all ceilings before September 9. (Livestock and processed meats are already under control. Wholesalers' ceilings go into effect September 5, and retailers' ceilings on September 9.)

The first consequence is this rush to the packing houses. The farmer fears that he will get less than present prices after the deadline. The butcher and consumer fear that they will not get meat through the regular channels after the new ceilings are established. These fears are quite justified, of course.

It is a general rule that when autumn approaches and pastures shrink, there is a drift to the packing houses. This year, government has set off this trend prematurely and artificially.

The volume of meat which will flow into the market in the immediate future will momentarily overwhelm the black market. Then the available supply will shrink, and in all probability the old black market evils will return.

In such decisions as we are seeing in the decontrol board and have seen in the old OPA, two of the inevitable weaknesses of government appear.

The first is the plain lack of capacity in any government to comprehend the complex process of economic life. The second is the pressure of politics to protect this or that element of the consuming public.

Labor demanded a concession, intended theoretically to lower the cost of living. The decontrol board apparently decided to grant it, after the OPA had promised that this time its control would be effective. But there is no assurance that such a promise can be kept.

It is going to be evident, before long, that in the great OPA legislative crisis in July both political parties participated in a comedy of errors.

President Truman, in his veto of the first bill, was badly advised politically and economically. The Republicans, in providing a new bill, threw away a golden opportunity. If nothing has been done after the veto except to provide rent control, natural factors might by this time have measurably adjusted things.

The new bill, on which the decontrol board had to base its decision, has merely delayed the inevitable and has created new complications.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Saturday, Sept. 4, 1926.

W. H. Booze, 580 Marion avenue, was injured when struck by auto at Third and Walnut street intersection.

Mrs. William E. Jones, Park avenue west, died after long illness.

Miss Naomi Bender and Virgil K. Neel were married by Rev. W. Elmer Bailey.

Albert F. Carter, 108 Hammond avenue, an enlistee in the army air service, was home on furlough.

Miss Katherine Lowmaster and Dale Morris were married by Rev. H. C. Roehner.

Mrs. Aaron Davis returned home after having undergone operation in Massillon hospital.

Miss Mary Naomi Wigton and Clayson D. Bell were married in First Lutheran church by Rev. H. C. Roehner.

Miss Mary Freehafer and Archibald Knell were married by Rev. H. C. Roehner.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

On September 4, 1886, the Apache Indians, under Geronimo, surrendered to General Nelson Miles at Skeleton Canyon, Arizona.

Dave Boone Says:

I SEE where Fiorello LaGuardia had an audience with Joe Stalin at the Kremlin and a transcription of it would probably make one of the great recordings of all time. I'd like to know which felt the more warlike when the session was over.

* * *

My hunch is that international peace got a great break because Fiorello didn't know how to say "get this," "ya can't get away with that stuff" and "scram, tinhorn!" in Russian, and Stalin didn't know how to say those things in English.

* * *

The politicians are having a good, big smile. They owe a lot to UNRRA. It took LaGuardia out of the country and kept him so far away they could do just about what they wanted with the situation in New York state and the country in general.

Daily Bible Thought

Many Causes of "Nervous Indigestion".

EVERY doctor is familiar with the patient who complains of indigestion and yet whose digestive organs are sound.

The most careful study and even X-rays of stomach, bowel and gallbladder, fail to reveal any abnormal condition, yet these patients continue to experience all the symptoms of indigestion, discomfort in the abdomen, belching, excessive gas formation and poor appetite.

Doctors know that the distress is functional. For one reason or another, the various organs are not working properly, but the trouble is not due to anything which the physician can cure by giving medicine or the surgeon correct by an operation.

Doctor Has Trouble.

This makes the doctor's task more difficult but nonetheless these people must be helped, for their sufferings are very real. The first step in any real treatment is to find the underlying causes for the disturbance.

According to Dr. Walter C. Alvarez of the Mayo Clinic, these may be many and various. For example, one woman's nervous indigestion may be due to the fact that she is worn out with family cares.

Another may have sickness to the stomach and heartburn due to smoking far too much. Another may have excessive gas formation due to heart failure, while in still another case, all the symptoms may be due to constipation. Each of these persons need a different type of treatment.

Most of these persons with indigestion are nervous, hypersensitive and easily irritated. They often worry a great deal and many of them are suffering from the strain of overwork or long hours.

Feeling of Soreness.

One of the most common forms of nervous indigestion is associated with a feeling of soreness in the bowel. Many of these patients from time to time pass large amounts of mucus in the stools. Their symptoms become worse when they have any kind of emotional upset, or when they are coming down with a cold, or perhaps, when they take laxatives or eat too much bulky food.

Dr. Alvarez says that these people must be "taught how best to live with their trouble" because they are likely to have some disturbance on and off for years.

The doctor's assurance that no serious difficulties are likely to develop as a result of their indigestion will relieve them of a good deal of worry on one score at least.

Once they realize that overwork and anything which promotes tension makes their condition worse, they can often arrange their lives so as to avoid fatigue and strain.

Alaska To Be Tourists' Paradise, Taking Steps Toward Statehood

(Editor's Note — While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, his column will be written by several distinguished guest columnists — today's by J. A. "Cap" Krug, secretary of the interior, who has just returned from an extensive survey of Alaska.)

By J. A. KRUG

WASHINGTON — A few days ago, I was walking down the wooden sidewalk of the Indian village of Metlakatla, Alaska. On either side, the evergreen branches of spruce and hemlock tossed in a stiff breeze fresh off the sea. In the distance rose mountain heights still bearing the snows of last winter. From the belfry of the white community church chimed the soft and solemn strains of "America" and later "America, the Beautiful."

It was an inspiring sight and sound. It made me proud to be an American and to have a part in the building of a great empire there in the nation's farthest north and farthest west.

Metlakatla was the last of a dozen Alaska communities visited on a trip which took me and some of my associates of the interior department 12,000 miles, half of it within the borders of the great territory of Alaska—an enormous and wonderful country. It is one-fifth as large as the United States.

Alaska is the land of promise. It is an unspoiled country of great opportunity. While it now has only about 85,000 inhabitants, very substantial growth and development lie just ahead. In fact, they are already under way.

Want Statehood.

Right now, most Alaskans are thinking about statehood. On every hand we heard advocates of statehood. Nowhere did we hear opposition, although I was informed that some does exist.

The people of the territory are to vote October 8 on a referendum question: "Are you in favor of statehood for Alaska?" This is the first step. If the vote is favorable, as I judge it will be from the evidence of Alaskans' attitude, the teritory's delegate to congress will press statehood legislation at the next session. Alaska's present delegate, E. L. "Bob" Bartlett, is strong for statehood. So is Gov. Ernest Gruening. So am I. Only under statehood, I feel, will Alaska realize her great destiny.

Rep. Bob Poage, of Texas, has an answer. He believes Alaska should be at least three states. Then no one of them would be larger than Texas.

One of the most interesting places visited was Barrow. It is the farthest north settlement under the American flag, only 18 degrees of latitude from the pole. The 500 Eskimo inhabitants turned out en masse to greet us, and one of the pictures I will always carry with me is that of the entire village descending to the beach to see us off. Someone started singing the hymn, "God Be With You Till We Meet Again" and soon every voice had joined in.

At the Eskimo meal which the people of the village spread before us, it was announced that a child which had been born that morning had been named Don Foster, after the head of the Alaska native service, who was a member of our party. Later I learned that the teacher and the minister had tried to get the parents to name the baby Julius after me, but they said "no." I don't blame them. My son is named "Jim."

Eskimo Hitchhiker.

Fred Ipalook, secretary of the village council at Barrow and an outstanding Eskimo, had some business at Nome, which is weeks away overland. I invited him to come with us on the plane. As it happened, the Nome area was completely closed in by cloud and fog from the Bering sea when we arrived overhead, so that we had to fly on to Anchorage. Fred had never been south of Nome. He had never seen a tree. He had never seen so many people as he saw at Fort Richardson and Anchorage.

The army flew Fred back to Barrow by way of Fairbanks, but he went home without ever conducting his business in Nome. "Next time," one of the Alaskan newspapers put it, "he will know better than to accept a ride with strangers."

Flying in Alaska is a principal business. The number of passenger-miles flown there in a year is 30 times as many, per capita, as in the states.

I have the utmost respect for the bush pilots who have pioneered aviation in that vast, uncharted country. I flew with them in southeast Alaska, where we had some calls to make at communities without airfields and where only float planes would serve. How they can find their way in rain and fog through the thousands of islands of the Alexander archipelago is a mystery to me.

The day Alaskan coastal and Eilis airlines flew us from Juneau to Sitka to Ketchikan, the storm clouds were riding the white caps of the Pacific. Even the Alaskan ducks and geese were sitting that one out, but the pilots flew us safely right through it. They fly anywhere, any time. In that part of Alaska the saying is that the only time the planes are grounded is when the snow is so thick the pilots can't see their propellers.

Alaskan Chaff.

Some interesting facts about Alaska: It is as far from the easternmost to the westernmost points of Alaska as from Charleston, S. C., to Los Angeles and as far from the northernmost to the southernmost as from Lake of the Woods, Canada, to the Mexican border. . . . Japonski Island, opposite Sitka, is believed locally to have been so named by the Russians because it was to be the original landing place for Japanese which Gov. Alexander Baranof, first governor of Russian America, planned to import as slave labor. . . . During the Russian occupation, Sitka was the largest and most prosperous settlement on the entire Pacific coast of North America. . . . All the real sealskin coats in the world originate in two small islands off the Alaskan coast—the Pribilofs.

These islands have a population of approximately 470 Aleuts and 3,000,000 fur seals. The pelts of the latter at present market prices are worth about $87.50 apiece.

The spruce and hemlock forests of southeastern Alaska alone can produce in perpetuity almost 1,000,000 tons of sulphite pulp a year, which is about one-fourth of the present newsprint consumption in the United States. . . . The temperature in the Yukon valley on the Arctic Circle reaches as high as 100 degrees in mid-summer. . . . The Aleuts of the Aleutian Islands and the Alaskan peninsula are communicants of the Russian Orthodox faith. Most of these people are as much Russian as aboriginals in blood. Fairbanks had a Russian population of several hundreds all during the war when this was the point at which lend-lease planes were transferred to be flown on to the USSR. . . . There are many points of contact between Alaska and Russia. Russia's big Diomede Island is but two miles distant from our little Diomede Island in the middle of Bering strait. The Eskimo inhabitants of the two islands have exchanged family visits for many years and have, until recently, intermarried.

Tourist Paradise.

One of the great opportunities in Alaska is the tourist industry. In Alaska you will see the most magnificent scenery in the world. It is everywhere in Alaska.

One of the objectives of my department in the immediate future will be to cut away the red tape now involved in establishing tourist facilities in the territory. For hundreds of thousands—perhaps millions—of Americans will be wanting to see the wonders of our last great frontier.

I recommend a trip to Alaska for anyone who is feeling despondent about the world. It will renew his faith in the pioneer hardihood of our nation and open vistas ahead.

Youth Relaxing After Years of Turmoil.

DENNIS, Mass — One of the fears cherished by the pacifists of an earlier and more naive day was that war would breed in the young a love of the military, a fixed passion for all that is martial.

The war which ended a year ago proved once again that the military system goes against something fundamental in the American tradition.

Our young can take it when the curse of war compels. But when that curse is lifted, they come back to the manifold pursuits of civilian life with a great yelp of relief.

That is what they're doing here on the long sweep of Cape Cod, with its endless bays and harbors, inlets, lakes and ponds.

One of the pursuits is the theater, and especially the summer theater, which gives the young a chance that the fierce commercialism of Broadway too often denies them. Here in Dennis, the Cape Playhouse, one of the most famous of those that now woo the summer tourist wherever a tourist is to be found, enlists a dozen apprentices, most of them very young.

The apprentices put on a special performance of their own here the other day. The play they chose was "Out of the Frying Pan," which deals with the theme of stage-struck youth.

While the performance had much of the pace and smoothness of Broadway, it also had a vitality and a good humor that are ordinarily not part of the merchandise offered for sale in the New York theater.

These young people were doing what they wanted to do, and therefore they put into it that extra measure which makes the difference between the passable and the exceptional. Young Americans put that same extra measure into a game of tennis, or sailing a boat, or into a fast crawl stroke.

One of the things we take for granted in this country is the enormous extension of every kind of playtime activity. It applies not merely to those in the upper-income brackets who can travel and seek out the more expensive play spots.

In the years just before the war, the summer camp idea—free for those who can pay nothing and at very low cost for those who can afford to pay a little—had spread very far.

It contributed greatly toward spreading the outdoor skills. The summer camp is a corollary of the playgrounds that dot every large American city. The sports common today to most young Americans were the exception thirty years ago.

There is a type of mind which pretends to see something alarming in what is spoken of scornfully as America's preoccupation with games. By implication, at least, the European model is head up and our youths are lectured for failing to pay more heed to the course of world affairs.

It seems to me a healthy sign that the younger generation can, in spite of all that has happened, return to the familiar ways. This does not mean that they have turned their backs on what is going on in the plague spots of the earth. My impression is that they are all too keenly aware of the botch their elders are making of the peace.

That may be why they speak sometimes, with a kind of bitter resignation, of still another war. They see so little sense, so little reason, in the deliberations of the statesmen that they can hardly be blamed for this fatalism.

What they ask is so little, and that is true particularly of those who have come back from the very worst of the hell that was let loose on the world for six years. They want to be able to earn a living, to bring up a family in decency, to have a little pleasure, a vacation now and then.

If our system fails to meet these reasonable demands, then we shall be in for trouble. If the way of life they believe in seems to be threatened from outside, then once again the response will be what it was in 1941.

That was one of the cardinal mistakes Hitler made. He believed the youth of the democracies were soft, effete, they would not fight. The western concept of sport for the sake of sport, skill for the sake of skill, is simply incomprehensible to the Nazi mind. Strength and skill must be for some purpose.

The strength and skill of America can be summoned up again as it was in 1941. But for this little while at least, the younger generation is playing, and playing hard, or just relaxing after the years of turmoil and uncertainty.

Correction—Inadvertently, in a recent column, the Foremen's Association of America in the Packard Motor Car case was mistakenly called the "Foremen's League for Education and Association." The latter is an entirely different organization and is opposed to the objectives that the Foremen's Association of America stand for. The Foremen's League believes that foremen should not be connected with workers under their supervision in collective bargaining.

Farmer's Diary: "Beginning of School."

LABOR DAY was typically autumnal. The air was thick with heavy odors of late blooming plants — the sun shone warm against the hives and the bees were busy. The lawn grass showed need of rain—thirsty corn fields had withered dry leaves about the base of the sturdy stems. The bed of the meadow brook was dry in places, with only little standing pools coated with green scum to mark its regular course.

Now football spirit is in the air. The husky pigskin gets a workout on our lawn. Sometimes in the night I hear one of our four yell "Touchdown!" in his sleep.

There are certain casualties like bruised shins, sprained shoulders, and bloody noses. The bottle of pink liniment is half empty upon the shelf. And then there is the wear and tear to precious shirts and pants . . . but the game must go on.

On Tuesday schools began. Chores on schedule. Breakfast hurried lightly through. Young eyes, from the western window kept close watch for the large orange bus that does not fail to move along the graveled road, stop by the maple tree and swing open its high glass-paneled door.

We watched our four race to meet it—their mother and I—and waved to each as he settled into his place beside a window . . . high school sophomore, and gradesters, eleven, nine and almost seven. From across the hill the echo of the rusty bell peals forth, after the long vacation . . . a million teachers, throughout the land stand ready to tackle the big job of training 30 million grade and high school youngsters.

America has never mustered a bigger army or one more precious or more promising. The future wellbeing of the world depends upon what these children learn. Your children and mine in the free public schools of United States need to learn positive ideals,—how to build rather than destroy. How to work together with patience and consideration for each other's rights. How to play together fairly—for the sake of the sportsmanship we shall all need many times to live well and do our share.

Education is the safeguard of our republic.

New York Notes

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

ALL ABOUT SONGS--On the night of December 8, 1936, I sat in for the first time for a "name" orchestra leader — Benny Goodman. This was up at Cromwell, Conn., where I was house musician for the local radio station. Goodman said he liked the way I played and recommended me for a job with Glenn Miller, who was then in the process of forming a band. I auditioned for Glenn, was accepted and became the first musician hired for his band. Since then, I've gone on my own and have been kicking around the country, playing all kinds of music for all kinds of people.

But this is not a piece about me. I would like to talk a bit about the songs we've played and the songwriters who have written them.

* * *

Let's start with a real "oldie," which we've been doing with some success, "My Old New Hampshire Home." You probably don't even know who wrote it. I know I didn't until a gaffer of a songplugger told me. Its author was a feller named Harry Von Tilzer, who also scribbled "Only A Bird In A Gilded Cage," "Wait Till The Sun Shines, Nellie," and "Down Where The Wurtzburger Flows." Know how "Old New Hampshire Home" was written? On the back of a "Pay Up or Vacate" rent slip. Von Tilzer was slowly starving to death in a boarding house in the Forties. One evening, while punching away for a tune to get his rent up to date, he was interrupted by a knock on the door—the landlady's. He held his breath until the situation cleared, noticing a slip of paper under the door. That was his landlady's way of saying finis. Know what the irrepressible Von Tilzer did? He wrote "My Old New Hampshire Home" right smack on the back of the eviction notice! And, after it was published he moved right out—but only because he could now afford much better quarters!

* * *

Then there was the time Ed Marks and Joe Stern authored a best seller back at the turn of the century. That same gaffer of a songplugger I mentioned above is in again: Marks and Stern were having a bite of dinner at a place in the East Twenties. At the next table two drunken customers were abusing their waitress. Her eyes flooded up (this was the age of innocence) and she whimpered: "No one would dare insult me if Jack were only here. My mother was a lady." Marks and Stern never finished their meal. Out they hustled smelling a best seller. And so they had one "My Mother Was a Lady." It sold over one million copies– one of the first biggest song hits ever.

I see where Warner Brothers have just made a film biography of Cole Porter. You probably have heard Artie Shaw's memorable "jump" version of "Rosalie," a Cole Porter classic. Few know, however, that Porter wrote the lines purely as a sarcastic shaft at Hollywood. He had written a score for a motion picture company and its head (who shall be nameless) summoned him and said: "Cole, your lyrics are fine but too sophisticated. Couldn't you bring them down to the public level?" Porter then dispatched "Rosalie" to that executive with the "Rosalie, I Love You" type of lyric. Porter was merely repeating the famous "Woman Disputed, I Love You" gagline which got big laughs back in the days when every movie's theme song ran along the same lyrical line. But here Porter did not get the last laugh. "Rosalie" was taken most seriously, and has turned out to be one of his greatest hits!

Let me end on a "You Never Can Tell About A Song" note: Everybody associates "There'll Be A Hot Time In The Old Town Tonight" with the late Teddy Roosevelt and the Spanish American war. Yet, when the Library of Congress was assembling great songs in American history connected with wars, T. R. asked that "Hot Time" be omitted, on the grounds that it was ragtime, not music!

Tin Pan Alley, I love you!

America Is Stripping Japan, Is Pravda V-J Message.

MOSCOW — (AP) — The official newspaper Pravda has accused the United States of stripping Japan and also of seeking to rejuvenate that country into an American-ruled "watchdog against the peoples of the Far East."

The comments were part of Russia's observance of her V-J day. From Prime Minister Stalin down, no official or press mention was made of the American or British contribution to the defeat of Japan. Nor was there mention of the atomic bomb, two of which exploded at Hiroshima and Nagasaki in the last days of the Oriental phase of the war.

The same newspaper used the occasion to heap praise on Stalin.

Mayor Endorses Used Fats Salvage Drive In Mansfield

Mayor Roy Vaughn today had put his endorsement on the fats salvage campaign being conducted in the city this week by Lever Brothers company, soap makers, and urged Mansfielders to save more used fats.

The soap company is putting on a special drive for used fats and is providing meat dealers and butchers with posters to remind their customers of the urgent need for more waste fats.

In an interview with George Wintersteen, local salesman for the Lever Brothers company, Mayor Vaughn said he felt everyone "should get behind the government's campaign for more used fats, so that more soaps and other scarce goods such as fabrics and electrical appliances can be produced, and so that more food fats can be released for people in other countries."

The company has conducted a drive among its employes and the families and friends of employes, and is now out to help meat dealers and butchers get bigger collections, according to Wintersteen. He is working with meat dealers and butchers in the fats salvage drive.

All-Time Peak In Jobs Seen

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Government economists today saw signs of another rise in civilian employment to a new all-time peak.

But Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace warned the present situation is an abnormal one and that in due time employment will drop. He believes the country is entering an "inflationary boom" that will prove a passing phase of the transition from war to peace.

The employment returns for August are not yet in. But some economists are willing to predict an increase in the job total to between 58,500,000 and 59,000,000.

Employment in July reached an all-time high of 58,130,000 while unemployment dropped to 2,270,000. The number of jobless does not include about 1,800,000 veterans drawing $20-a-week government benefits. The census bureau does not consider them to be in the labor market.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, September 5

The sidereal operations for this day point to a very lively, astute and clever march upon events of a progressive and dynamic bearing upon the life, its happiness and far-reaching success, in which the home life, love affairs, social prestige and business enterprise are mutually involved.

The mentality will be keyed to excellent stimulus in this direction, which may call for travel, change, much interchange of communications and correspondence, with fresh fields or new agreements favored.

However, in all this traffic keep keen and alert to subtlety, fraud and intrigue, or other strange undercurrents.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of splendid accomplishments, with definite and decisive progress in putting over new, clever and far-reaching objectives, in which business, financial, professional and affectional life have usual promise with the happiest of culminations.

New contacts and agreements are in order, with travel, fresh pastures, either literally and in the field of mental or romantic adventure. Great chances with final payoffs in joyous and prosperous reactions in intimate relations.

Nevertheless, awareness and shrewdness toward strange complications or doubtful intrigues may not be amiss. Steer clear of curious alliances.

A child born on this day may be exceptionally versatile, capable and progressive, with some unusual talents, but might be easily duped or involved by confiding in strangers.

Woman Recalls Old Spirituals

PHILADELPHIA — (INS) — From the memory of an ancient Negress have come haunting spirituals that have been forgotten for many years.

The singer, Mrs. Amelie Morris, of Philadelphia, enjoys the songs as much as persons listening to her. At 94, she still derives a lusty enjoyment from life, and from her throbbing songs.

British Aid Black Market Sale of Weapons to Arabs

By CARTER L. DAVIDSON

JERUSALEM (AP) — Arms for the military organizations of the Arabs of Palestine are pouring into the hands of willing warriors these days from over the border, out of hiding and through the black market.

Complete evidence of all three sources of arms and ammunition for burgeoning military movements is visible aplenty in Arabic quarters of big Palestine cities and in small Arab villages.

Supplies now in the hands of three separate military organizations, Najada, Futuwah and Jawallah (Arabic words for helpers, youth and scouts, respectively) are not impressive.

But supply streams are deepening fast.

The principal source of supply appears to be Arab tribesmen living just over the Palestine borders in Transjordan, Syria and Lebanon.

The second important source is the hiding places of guns stored by Arabs, mostly in isolated villages, after the 1936 uprising.

The third and fastest increasing source of supply is the black market to which British military officers and men stationed in Palestine contribute.

This source, a trickle two months ago, has now become a veritable freshet of munitions flowing to unlicensed owners at prices governed only by what the traffic will bear.

An unimpeachable source gave me an eyewitness account of delivery last August 18 at 10:45 a. m. of 40 Thompson submachine guns to a group of Arabs in Nablus. The delivery was arranged by a British army officer. The name, rank and unit of the officer is in my possession.

At least five other incidents of British army personnel black marketing guns to Arabs have been unearthed in a month's digging. The source of the arms being sold was not learned but an Arab high in command of one organization said "I suppose they're guns the British have been taking away from the Jews."

He added:

"The British more or less admitted officially that they armed the Jews during the Arab uprising few years ago. It is only logical that they arm us now to fight the Jewish terrorists."

High British military authorities, requesting anonymity, denied official knowledge of any sales of arms to Arabs by British officers, but one of them added:

"There is no reason to doubt that sort of thing goes on. After all, I've heard of such cases in Lebanon and Syria where French officers and men frankly and more or less openly sold arms and ammunition to tribesmen. There are even a few instances of American soldiers selling revolvers to Arabs when the Yanks were in this part of the world."

(In London, a government spokesman said, "We certainly are not arming the Arabs in any way at all."

(Other observers in London said they had received no reports of the sale of arms to the Arabs.)

Most Arabs know the familiar feel of a rifle in hand but few know much of modern military coordination in armament use. For that reason there is drilling almost every night in the hills, and a few instances of target practice have been witnessed. Target practice is rare, however, because ammunition is scarce.

Nelson Warns Against Army

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Donald M. Nelson hoisted a warning today for the nation to be on guard, "not only in war but in peace," against widening military influence.

In his book, "Arsenal of Democracy" to be published this week, the former War Production Board chairman declares that the army largely "took control" of the civilian economy in 1944 after trying throughout the war to wrest that authority from him.

Henceforth, Nelson wrote, the army will cease to be a neglected step-child.

Life Incomes at Retirement for General Electric Employees

Over 100,000 men and women already enrolled under new hundred-million-dollar General Electric Pension Program.

On July 10, 1946 General Electric announced an expanded pension program to give every employee at retirement the steady income everyone dreams of—but few ever manage to secure.

For the average employee this will mean a retirement income several times as large as the annuity he could ordinarily buy. Income at retirement, when added to Social Security payments, will amount to about 50% of average pay for the employee who has spent his working years with General Electric.

$100,000,000 to Start Plan

This plan provides a pension for the years already worked, at no cost to employees. For this, the company pays the entire cost, estimated at more than $100,000,000.

Thus every employee with over a year's service has a good start on his pension at retirement—at no cost to him. The longer he has worked, the bigger the sum.

To increase this retirement income as the years go on, employees and the company will jointly contribute to the fund. On the average, about two-thirds of future costs will be paid by the company.

Every Employee Eligible

Pensions are not new at General Electric. Retirement plans were begun as early as 1912. Over 40,000 employees now on the payroll are already covered. The new plan brings pensions within reach of 100,000 more. Every employee is eligible the day he completes one full year of service.

About 90% of eligible G-E men and women have already signed up for Retirement Income

Within eight weeks of the new pension program's announcement, some of General Electric's nearly one hundred plants in about seventy-five communities report the following enrollment:

Bridgeport, Conn.	90.8%
Ontario, Cal.	92.5%
Erie, Pa.	96.8%
Lynn, Mass.	97.0%
Schenectady, N. Y.	95.0%
Pittsfield, Mass.	94.0%
Philadelphia, Pa.	95.6%
New Kensington, Pa.	97.8%
Lowell, Mass.	96.4%
Cleveland, Ohio	91.1%

General Electric's Objectives

Three objectives of General Electric are worth repeating:

For the public, new and better products at the fairest price that General Electric research and engineering can achieve.

For General Electric men and women, a better place to work—fair wages, steadiest possible employment, and "job dividends" for work well done.

For a quarter of a million owners, a fair return on the millions in savings they have invested.

"Job Dividends"

General Electric's "job dividends"—those extras that G-E employees get in addition to wages—now include among other things, pensions at retirement, insurance, vacations with pay, awards for achievement, etc. On such "job dividends" General Electric spent more than $35,000,000 for the year 1945.

This new pension program, from General Electric's point of view, is another way to encourage the capable and efficient men and women who aid in the company's success.

With their help, even greater benefits can be produced for all.

For additional details of the plan, those interested may write for the booklet, "General Electric Pension Plan." Address General Electric, Schenectady, N. Y.

A Mother's Letter Dealing With Meddlesome Relatives

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

My, My, what harm some in-laws can do a young child, no matter how much they seem to be educated! Indeed, a college education does not necessarily guarantee good sense toward young children.

The mother of a boy three writes:

"Dear Dr. Myers:—For the last year we have lived near my husband's family who visit us about four times a week and our trouble seems to be getting insurmountable. They are a good family and all four children college graduates, and have professions Ours is the only grandchild. They tease him until I think I will lose my mind.

"They all correct and criticize our youngster until he doesn't seem to know if he is going or coming. They even take it upon themselves to slap him for any misdeeds even though I am right there and would correct him myself if they didn't interfere.

"The boys have taught him some bad words for which I have spanked soundly, yet he will still pop out with them in the most embarrassing moments. The other night they took his toys away and shouted so hard no one could hear. Then very unexpectedly my boy spit at them and they in turn spit at him. This went on for ten minutes.

"Though they encourage and teach him these terrible habits they turn to us and say he is untrained and doesn't have any discipline Last night was the climax. I had told my husband this had to end and the boys must be talked to as well as his sister and mother, for their nagging."

Then, describing a tantrum of the child the night before when they returned home late with him, she said the mother-in-law "started laying down the laws."

"I picked the youngster up, closed the door and put him to bed. Today, he is stuttering so badly he can't say a sentence. I feel something must be done at once and hope you have some suggestions."

I sent this mother three bulletins, advising her to keep that child home at night and to prevail on her husband to ask those relatives not to return again for some months.

Whether the stuttering began on the morning named or not, is not clear. But any child under such conditions hardly could be other than very nervous and, therefore, easily might stutter. Most of all, the stuttering child needs to be understood and enjoy a calm, happy family atmosphere.

It should be noted that those in-laws not only hamper that baby's happy normal development directly but also keep the mother's nerves on edge, rendering her less fit to give the child the serenity and emotional security he needs from her.

EACH TO HIS OWN WAY

Perhaps your way is best for you,
For me your way would never do.
—Peter Rabbit.

In a bramble-tangle far back in the Old Pasture two young folks were becoming acquainted One was a young Grouse who had become separated from his mother and brothers and sisters The other was an even younger Rabbit called Little Wobblenose.

"Did something happen to your mother so that you and your brothers and sisters were left alone?" asked the young Grouse.

The little Rabbit shook his head "Not that I know of," said he. "We left her or she left us, I don't really know which I guess we all just left each other"

'Aren't you dreadfully lonesome? Aren't you afraid to be alone?" the young Grouse asked.

"No," was the prompt reply.

"But you are so small to be out in the Great World!" cried the young Grouse

Little Wobblenose tried to swell himself out to look bigger. "I'm big enough to look out for myself," he boasted pridefully

"Wouldn't you feel a lot safer if you were with your mother and brothers and sisters?" the young Grouse wanted to know.

"Certainly not I wouldn't feel as safe A lot of us together would be easily seen by hungry enemies Alone I can keep out of sight It is easier for one to hide than for a lot to hide. It is much better to be alone Don't you think so?" replied the little Rabbit

"No, I don't," retorted the young Grouse in a most decided manner "Never before have I begun to feel so constantly afraid as since I lost the flock or the flock lost me When we are together there are many eyes instead of only two to watch for danger If an enemy does surprise us we can take to

"Aren't you afraid to be alone?" the young Grouse asked our wings and fly in different directions By the time the enemy decides which one to try to catch we can all be safely away and in hiding. As I told you before, we Grouse stick together. We always have mother to tell us or show us just what to do. But for her we sometimes wouldn't know whether to run or fly. When she has taught us that she knows we will be ready to go out alone in the Great World. You have a funny mother, if you ask me"

"I didn't ask you," retorted the little Rabbit

"Yes, sir, you have a funny mother," continued the young Grouse, just as if Little Wobblenose hadn't spoken "How do you expect to learn the ways of the Great World, who to watch out for and fear, and who not to? With no one to show you, how can you know what to eat and where to look for it?"

"I have a nose There is nothing the matter with it" retorted the little Rabbit in a tone of disgust

"What has your nose got to do with it?" demanded the young Grouse.

"It tells me what to eat. I don't have to be shown. What smells good usually tastes good and is good for me. As for having to be shown where and how to hunt for my food, that would be silly Yes, sir, that would be silly Wherever grass or clover grows my food is right beneath my nose," declared Little Wobblenose

"But with no one to tell you how are you to know of whom to be afraid and of whom not to? persisted the young Grouse

"That's easy. There is nothing easier. I'm afraid of everybody until I find out for myself that I needn't be I was even afraid of you when I saw you creeping in here" replied the little Rabbit.

'How did you find out you needn't be?" asked the other

"That was easy, too I soon saw that you were as much afraid as I was, and perhaps a little more," explained Little Wobblenose

Just then there was a sound outside the bramble-tangle. It was a soft clucking "That's my mother!" cried the young Grouse and hurriedly crept out. A moment later there was a roar of stout wings. The little Rabbit peeked out just in time to see Mrs Grouse at the head of her big family, his new friend among them, flying toward the Green Forest

"Their way may be best for them, but not for me," said he 'I don't have to be looked out for, I can look out for myself" he added a bit scornfully

It is a great thrill to the veteran kibitzer to see a hand on which both defenders and the declarer are all up on their toes, doing the finest possible job Seldom does it happen that all three active contestants have a chance to do something pretty But when the occasion develops and all three of them rise to the situation—oh, boy, for the life of a kibitzer!

Four of the craftiest bridgers in Florida fought out this deal in the Southeastern championships—Betty Dryden in the North, Bob Avant in the South, Mervin Ray in the East—and all did their stuff North's work ended with that nervy jump to game, which she desired even if South was minimum enough to pass 2No Trumps or 3-Spades and it nearly produced a top score The slightest slip by the defense would have caused it

Opening the diamond J to the Q caused South to hold up the K The club K scored and the 9 was led to the J Then came all five of the spades and the heart A This left North in the lead with the heart K-9 and diamond 6 5 East the heart Q 10 and club A 8, South the diamond K-9 and club Q-7 and West the heart J-7 and diamond A-10

Notice that if the heart 9 is now led, the K can never score a trick, so the K must be cashed and a throw-in tied with the 9 to make East or West set up the ninth trick for South But when the K was led, Mr Murray in the East underplayed the Q Mr Avant now counting on West to win the next heart, properly discarded the club 7—nice bridge But West knowing East had the 10, then played her heart J and South was licked East won the next heart with the 10 dropped the club Q with the A and set the contract with the club 8

Otis Moore of Kenilworth, N J, has been doing some research on the subject of mules and sends me the following out of a clear blue sky

You know why Missouri stands at the head in raising mules? Because that is the only safe place to stand

Ever hear of the mule skinner

whose critter wouldn't move a step? He went to a vet to get something to give the mule A half hour later he was back demanding, Gimme a double dose of that stuff I gotta catch that mule"

There is another hoary tale of a sick mule The horse doctor prescribed a horse medicine to be blown through a tube into the mule's mouth Soon the man returned looking mighty sick 'What on earth has happened to you?' asked the vet anxiously. The man replied, "That d—— mule blew first!"
